Chicago—The defense of William Darling Shepherd, on trial for the murder by administering "cyanide" of his millionaire foster son, William Nelson McClintock, lost another hard fought battle Saturday.

At the opening of court, William Scott Stewart, chief of defense counsel sought to have erased from the record testimony late Friday of Estelle Gehling, a trained nurse of Oconto, Wis., Shepherd's "sunshine girl" and a quotation from a letter he had written to her admitting financial insolvency and in intention to "close my office here and drift away from it all."

Judge Thomas J. Lynch agreed with Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, that while the letter was highly prejudicial against Shepherd, it was pertinent in that it confessed in his own handwriting that he was bankrupt and his outlook was hopeless one month before Young McClintock died and left him an estate of more than a million.

READ IN PART

It was agreed that only a portion of the letter should be permitted to go into the records and that the parts of the letter which identified it as a "love letter" should not be read.

The jury then was brought in and the prosecution drove ahead building up Shepherd's alleged motive, relegating establishing its "corpus delicti" to later sessions.

State's Attorney Crowe and his assistants may attempt to establish the "corpus delicti" by stop, enhanced by instructions from the bench. This point for the prosecution was won after a heated argument Friday before Judge Thomas J. Lynch in the judge's chambers between six state and defense attorneys.

But the state must prove the "corpus delicti"—that McClintock lived, is dead, was murdered and with a motive—or Judge Lynch will throw the case "into the street," he ruled finally.

DOCTORS TESTIFY

From Doctors Rufus Stolp and J. Herriek, who attended McClintock in his last illness, Attorney W.S. Stewart, attorney for Shepherd, upon cross-examination gained the admissions that the young man sickened and died during an epidemic of typhoid fever attributed to eating tainted sea food. Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, testified the typhoid alone caused "Billy's" death.

Louis Sharraro, Chicago, civil service employee, former restaurateur, uncle of John Sharraro, assistant state's attorney, testified that nine or ten years ago Shepherd frequently visited his place and that he displayed an interest even then in learning the part of an oyster that contained poison.

Once Shepherd told him, said Sharraro, that he was the guardian of a rich youth, got $7,500 a year for it and added: "Some day I'll have a barrel of money."

Miss Anna Beckford, former maid, testified that Shepherd had a secret laboratory in his room but upon cross-examination she admitted that Shepherd's room adjoined that of Mrs. McClintock, and that the mother of "Billy" who preceded him, had the grave by 16 years had access to Shepherd's at any moment through a connecting door.

In appealing to Judge Lynch Friday for the right to present his case in his own manner, prosecutor Crowe laid great stress upon that private laboratory as a cog in the wheel of a circumstantial "corpus delicti."

The will of Billy McClintock by which Shepherd changed night from confessed poverty to the fictitious status of a millionaire was brought into the case by testimony of Miss Eva Peterson, secretary for the law firm of which Shepherd is a member.

TWO POLICEMEN,
GANGSTER DEAD
IN GUN BATTLEThree Others Are Wounded—
Chicago Police to Start War on All Gunmen

By Associated Press

Chicago—Gangsters and police shot it out Saturday at close quarters in a revolver battle resulting in the death of two police sergeants and of John Genna, one of the attacking gang and the wounding of a third policeman and Genna's two companions. Genna is believed to have been a brother of Angelo Genna, gangster recently assassinated and the killings are believed to presage a bitter police war against gunman and beer runners.

Superintendent of police Morgan A. Collins declared the police killers should be indicted and hanged before the day ended. Two of the wounded men may die. Shortly before noon the death list stood at three: Police Sergeant Charles Walsh, almost instantly killed in battle; Sergeant H. Olson, died in a hospital; John Genna, gangster, died of wounds. The wounded: Sergeant Michael Conway, shot near the heart, may die; John Stali gangster; Albert Annalio, gangster.

The battle burst after a chase of nearly a mile and a half on Western avenue after the police squad of four sergeants from the detective bureau saw a large automobile speeding south. The police car turned and pursued. The gangsters increased the speed of their car and at Sixtieth street driver lost control and the car crashed into an iron fence.

The detective sergeant squad came to a stop a few feet away as the gangsters tumbled or jumped from their car with revolvers and shotguns ready for action.

R fusillade of slugs and bullets was launched at the police squad. The first deadly volley dropped Sergeant Olson when a slug crashed through his mouth and shattered his jaw. A hail of bullets riddled Walsh, killing him virtually instantly.

Shipping Board Men Resent
Interference By Coolidge

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge's suggestion that the emergency fleet corporation instead of the shipping board conduct preliminary negotiations for the sale of ships is a move in the direction of efficiency rather than a curtailment of the powers of the board itself.

This is the view being placed on the president's letter in contradiction more or less of earlier reports that Mr. Coolidge was endeavoring to cure the discord in the board by giving the emergency fleet corporation some of the board's functions.

The indications now are that the president's recommendation will be accepted without dissent. Members of the board say the emergency fleet corporation has always negotiated the sale of single ships and that the proposal of the president will result in less confusion because all negotiations will be centralized. It is pointed out that the president expressly says the negotiations shall not be final until approved by the board and that the fleet corporation's recommendations are not binding.

The president's letter is the culmination of all sorts of rumors and reports that individual members of the shipping board are approached with respect to negotiations and that the result is frequently a debate on political and personal influence as applied to prospective sales.

Under the new arrangement, Admiral Palmer, head of the fleet corporation, who is neither a political appointee nor a partisan of any particular policy, will have his subordinates conduct negotiations with any prospective purchaser and after a thorough investigation will make concrete recommendations to the shipping board submitting all facts. There will then be no oral or collateral understandings and everything about the transaction will be placed before the board for its decision.

Asked about the frequent necessity of executive interference in the affairs of the shipping board, members say it is not unusual, as the shipping board has many complex problems, and Mr. Coolidge is simply trying to suggest efficiency methods wherever possible, just as he would in other departments of the government. There is no question, however, that here and there inside the board there has been resentment because Mr. Coolidge has intervened, but his defenders insist some influence had to be brought to bear in order to carry out the policy of getting the ships into private hands through the best offers available.

When congress meets, of course, legislation will again be asked to make the separation shipping board and the emergency fleet corporation complete. The present divorce is more or less informal and is due to the president's request rather than any flat of law. If the two establishments are separated, the fleet corporation will have entire charge of operations and the shipping board will take care of such sales as must be made and such regulations governing shipping as a whole as the interstate commerce commission now makes with reference to transportation on land.

Prejudice Keeps U. S. From World Court, Walsh Avers

By Associated Press

Madison—There is but one reason why the United States holds aloof from entering the permanent court of international justice and that is because the court originated in the League of Nations. United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana declared in an address before a joint session of the Wisconsin legislature Friday.

The senate expressed the wish that this "prejudice" might be dissipated. The world court, Senator Walsh said, was growing in favor, and if the United States continues to follow its policy of withholding participation, it should at least give its moral support until the court no longer needs support from this nation. That time, he said, would come when the court had won the respect of the world.

EKERN LOBBYING
PROBE IS ENDED
IN STATE SENATEAttorney General Denies He Had Part in Choosing Investigating Committee

By Associated Press

Madison—The special senatorial committee investigating the Smith-Ekern controversy Saturday was considering the testimony taken during the last three weeks, touching upon many angles. Its hearings were completed Friday and the committee went into executive session with another similar meeting scheduled for Tuesday.

W. Stanley Smith, insurance commissioner, offered testimony at the hearings, in an effort to show that Attorney General Herman L. Ekern had represented private insurance interests and to sustain his challenge of the attorney general's right to advise the legislature on the insurance code revision bill sponsored by the commissioner.

Ekern denied that he had any part in drafting the "resolution" under which the investigation was conducted. He said that he had discussed the proposal for an investigation with Philip La Follette, district attorney of Dane county and son of Senator Robert M. La Follette, and John Hannan, secretary of the state board of control. Under cross-examination by Ralph W. Jackman, counsel for Commissioner Smith, Mr. Ekern testified that there was some discussion of the names of senators who likely would have time to serve on the investigating committee but that he did not know of any list of names being presented to the presiding officer of the state senate.

United States is conditioned upon four things, he said. These are: The United States does not agree to sustain the League of Nations or the obligations of the covenant; the United States must be allowed to participate in the election of judges of the court; it would pay its just share of the salaries of the judges; the constitution of the court must not be changed without the consent of the United States.

If the United States subscribes to the protocol, it would sit in the council of the League of Nations only to participate in the election of judges of the court, Senator Walsh added.

While the United States takes no active part in the deliberations of the court, he said, Elihu Root, former secretary of state, submitted a plan for selection of the judges which has been adopted.

Introducing Senator Walsh to the legislature and others who assembled to hear the address, State Senator John E. Cashman of Denmark, Wis., called attention to the fact that Senator Walsh was a native of Wisconsin, and said the state was proud of his record.

STOP BAN ON MARRIAGES OF
T. B. PERSONS

Blaine Veto Also Annuls Bill
Preventing Feeble Minded Weddings

Madison—Governor Blaine Saturday vetoed the Boldt bill prohibiting the marriage of feeble-minded persons and those afflicted with active pulmonary tuberculosis.

The executive said he saw no objection to barring feeble-minded persons from marrying, but he objected to the inclusion within the prohibition of persons afflicted with tuberculosis. He regarded it as a menace to society, he said, because marriage to which a tubercular person was a party could be annulled under the provision, denying the innocent party restitution. Furthermore, he declared, the proposed act could not be enforced.

"It is well known that parents afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis may raise children free from such tuberculosis, if they observe the proper sanitary rules," said the veto message. "Therefore, while harm may come from such unions, the harm arises through failure to properly protect the child after birth."

"Pulmonary tuberculosis," it continued, "is an insidious disease, often times unknown to the afflicted, and unless medical authority is consulted, the afflicted may never acquire knowledge of his or her afflicted condition until the disease has wrought its havoc. If the afflicted consults medical authority, then the knowledge of the existence of such disease cannot be divulged by the physician. Therefore, public authority attempting to prosecute in such cases would find it utterly impossible to obtain the evidence of the disease, unless the party confessed thereto, and few people, even free from criminal charge, will confess to such affliction. Clearly, therefore, the provision against pulmonary tubercular persons contracting marriage would go unenforced, and the only possible value it might have would be educational."

"A person afflicted with insipient active tuberculosis, being prohibited from contracting a marriage, may nevertheless legally enter into marital relations without the knowledge of the other party and without any opportunity for the other party to obtain knowledge of such affliction, until the disease has reached that stage where the ordinary layman knows there is something wrong. In such cases, therefore, have entered into an illegal contract that is absolutely void."

"An action for annulment, of course, then lies. In such actions, however assuming the innocent party to be the illegal wife, she has no protection as to property rights that have been obtained. The man so afflicted may bring suit to annul such marriage and leave the innocent woman without a single dollar for support, even long years after the original marriage, and after children have been born, and after the woman is incapable of earning a livelihood. In such actions there is no possibility for permanent alimony or division of property."

Canton.—The attacking Kwang Tung and Cantonese forces under Bolshevik officers after a fierce attack on the defending Yunnanese forced them to surrender Canton and today imposed extreme cruelties on soldiers and civilian population as well.

The attacking forces landed 2,000 soldiers at Tungshan and from that point they attacked, leaving the defending forces without river transport facilities and therefore unable to launch a counter attack. After launching the Kwang Tung troops gave the surrendering forces no consideration although the defeated troops had voluntarily given up their arms.

The winning forces then began looting the city. Revolting scenes followed in all parts of the city, many of which were witnessed by Europeans from the foreign quarter. Innocent people were stoned and beaten by mobs. Bodies of slain innocent by-standers are strewn along the roads.

The surrendering Yunnanese troops in many cases were taken to South by the Kwang Tung forces. From Shamen the foreign population saw a conquered soldier commit suicide by diving in the river after witnessing the killing of his comrades. The winning forces either shot defeated troops or threw them into the river after beating them with bamboo sticks, stones, or rifles. Looting was carried on in an extensive manner.

The principal cause of the defeat of the Yunnanese troops now driven out of Canton, was the treachery in the ranks of the Kwang Tsi troops who quit for a cash consideration.

TROOPS ARRIVE

Shanghai—Two thousand troops from the Mukden army, of General Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian dictator, arrived in Shanghai Saturday morning under command of General Chang's son, Chang Hsueh Liang. The troops were posted throughout the city, and at the boundaries of the international settlement which was marked by Chinese flags.

Strikes in the industrial plants which started spreading when news of the killing of eight Chinese students in a riot at Hankow was received here, continued to enlarge Saturday.

Local shipping is completely tied up. Hot weather with overcast skies prevailed Saturday.

It is unofficially reported the Peking government has decided to issue on Monday a mandate instructing Chinese provincial authorities to protect foreigners during the present disturbances throughout the country.

PROTEST KILLING

Peking.—The Chinese government Saturday protested by note to the British legation the recent killing and wounding of Chinese at Hankow. The note emphasized the seriousness of the situation and reserved full liberty to demand compensation later.

The Chinese note requested the British legation to notify all British consulates to take measures to prevent recurrence of incidents such as took place at Hankow. In referring to the seriousness of the situation at Hankow the note pointed out that the Shanghai affair still is unsettled.

SAILORS MAY STRIKE

Hankow.—The Chinese seamen's union here contemplated a strike to begin on Monday as a protest against the activities of foreigners in China. The strike will affect steamers used by the Indo-China and China Navigation companies. Decision to call a general strike on June 20, has been reached, but the strike was dependent on the ability of communists in Canton to furnish the money for strike aid.

BARN FAR FROM HCDRANT BURNS

Fire Department Is Delayed
Because Location Is Not Clearly Given

Damage amounting to $1,500 was caused Friday afternoon when a barn on the property of Roman Plach, 1021 S. River-st., was totally destroyed by a fire of unknown origin. Another blaze resulting from the explosion of an oil stove in the home of John Hagen, 1609 W. Spencer, was extinguished without loss before the fire department arrived on the scene.

Confusion in turning in the alarm over the telephone was partly to blame for the total destruction of the Plach barn, although Chief George P. McGilgan stated that it is doubtful whether much could have been done even though the fire was on the telephone, understood that the fire was at 1021 S. River-st. Chief McGilgan led company No. 1 to that street but was unable to locate the number. Turning about he led his men in the direction of the lower number, but lost them near the chaffery hill and the men returned to the fire barns.

In the meantime the chief drove to the S. River-st. and directed to the fire, where he found a number of people who had formed a bucket brigade to save the house, which is not more than 25 feet from the barn. Another call had been put in on box No. 44 at the Richmond school where the fireman were looking for the blaze, and company No. 2 responded to this. While they were leaving the barn the first company returned and joined them.

This time the men located the fire. The number of the house was 1201 E. South River-st. but that the barn stood in a lot more than a quarter mile from the street. Laying 1,500 feet of hose they attempted to check the blaze, but it had gained too much headway and the barn, together with a motorcycle stored inside, was totally destroyed. The barn was fully protected by insurance.

In regard to the confusion that prevented his men from reaching the fire, on the first alarm, Chief McGilgan stated that such things are likely to occur when people lose their heads while talking over the telephone. He expressed regret that the barn was a total loss but said that even though there had been no difficulty in locating it, the chance of saving it would have been very slim.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined, according to Chief McGilgan.

RAINFALL WAS MORE THAN INCH

Storm Did Little Damage, Although Branches Were Blown Down

Beyond the breaking off of several branches from trees no damage was reported here after the passing of the storm Friday afternoon and evening. The town line road between Freedom and Center was blocked early Saturday morning by a large branch that had been blown down, but the effects of the storm on the whole were beneficial rather than harmful. The rainfall during the afternoon and evening was shown to have been 1.15 inches, according to the rain gauge on the roof of Schlafer Hardware Co. here, and farmers in this vicinity report that straight sided milk cans left standing in the open contained several inches of water after the showers.

Wagons of the company were requisitioned by the raiders to carry off loads of goods. The loot consisted of boots and shoes, clothing and food-stuffs.

NAME LOCKLIN "Y" SECRETARY IN BOYS' UNIT

Board Also Fixes Tentative
Dates for Tenth Birthday
Celebration

Lawrence Locklin of Appleton, was appointed acting boys' work secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. for the summer period to replace Len Hennickson of Duluth, at a meeting of the board of directors Thursday noon. Mr. Locklin, who will attend the Y. M. C. A. college at Chicago next fall, will take immediate charge and the boys department will be kept open for the entire summer with all activities in full swing, the directors announced.

Seven chairmen for standing committees of the local "Y" were appointed for the ensuing year by President F. J. Harwood. The following men were reappointed to fill old jobs: W. E. Smith, boys' division; G. H. Packard, physical department; H. W. Russell, membership; W. S. Smith, house; R. H. Hannum, world service; A. R. Eads, budget reviewing. The new chairmen are John Trautmann, religious work and Herb Heilig, social work. The chairman of the educational committee is still to be chosen. Oct. 11 to 13, was practically chosen as the date for the observance of the tenth anniversary of the local "Y" this fall. These are the exact dates of the dedication ceremony in 1915, but because of several big affairs this fall it may have to be changed so as not to conflict. Two observances which occurred this fall and are now in process are the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Congregational church and the dedication of the new Methodist church, but dates for these affairs have not been definitely set. This fact makes it hard for the "Y" committee to set its dates. The committee consists of W. S. Smith, chairman, H. W. Russell, A. R. Eads, J. N. Fisher, and President F. J. Harwood and Secretary George F. Werner, ex-officio. They were instructed to prepare a program and plan of observance and report at a later meeting at the Thursday session.

SIGNS WILL SHOW WHICH IS BOUND-ST

Street signs on Boundst. south of Spencerst. will be changed as soon as possible, according to Robert M. Connelly, city engineer. At present Boundst. is marked Victoria-st and residents have requested the change. Both Bound and Victoria-sts run north and south and intersect Spencerst at nearly the same point. The Boundst. intersection is several yards west of the Victoria-st corner, however, making two separate streets.

PART OF CITY STREET MAY BE SOLD BY COUNTY

Someone is due for a surprise after June 18 when the delinquent tax sales are to be held. If anyone purchases the south half of Lot 11, Block 35, Sixth ward plat, he will find himself in possession of a part of Levist. Why the city should wish to sell one of its perfectly good streets and what use might be made of it if it were bought by a private citizen are matters of doubt.

The property described in the advertisement was purchased by the city last autumn from Grover Smith and Mrs. Carl Enzel as a right-of-way for the extension of Levist. Evidently the clerk or official whose duty it is to keep up the files neglected to make the change on his books and thus Levist is offered for sale.

MAKE LANDLORD PAY FOR DAMAGE

Kaminsky Assessed $258 Because Steam Injured Mills'
Co. Articles

A verdict of $258.97 damages was granted to Floyd Mills and Miss Kathryn Demerath, doing business at 534 W. College-ave under the name of the L. M. Mills Trunk and Bag Co. by a jury Friday morning in municipal court as the result of charges brought against Louis Kaminsky, owner of building occupied by the firm. Kaminsky was charged with allowing steam to escape in the Mills store after it had been ordered shut off and in doing so damaging goods to the extent of $258.97.

The building had been leased to the plaintiff until April 1, 1926. It is a steam-heated building and Mr. Mills requested that the steam be shut off as he had a small stove. Kaminsky hired a plumber for the job and was told that it was shut off. After having been shut off for some time steam escaped and damaged Mr. Mills' goods. In his answer to the complaint, Kaminsky stated that this was either the plumber's fault or was due to the valves of the heating system.

NO WINTER FISHING IN SHAWANO LAKE NOW

Fishermen of Appleton and vicinity who spent much time angling for the elusive fish in Shawano lake will be interested in one of the new state laws dealing with that fishing grounds. The new law declares a closed season on all fishing in Shawano lake from Dec 1 to May 15. This period had been a closed season before for some species of fish, but had never included all of the finny tribe.

COMMUNISM AND FREE SPEECH

The supreme court of the United States by a vote of six to three of its judges has decided that any one of the states in the Union, if its law making body so desires, may enact laws punishing as a crime the preaching of anarchy or in other words, may prohibit the dissemination of the communistic doctrine of overthrowing the government by violence. The supreme court does not hold that such a law is either wise or unwise but merely that the various states have the power to pass such laws under the constitution. The dissenting judges were of the opinion that such a law was unconstitutional unless the language of the agitator was "used in such a way and of such a nature as to create clear and present danger that it will bring about the evil that the state has the right to prevent," in other words, violence. The majority of the court, however, was of the opinion that each state in the Union has the right to punish the mere advocacy of violent action against the government even if there does not appear to be any present danger of its actual use.

It is a satisfactory thing that each state shall have power, as the supreme court holds, to prohibit the dissemination of communistic doctrine, which is the doctrine of violence, but whether or not that power should be exercised by the state is a wholly different question. Those who wish to advocate the violent overthrow of a government generally fall back upon their alleged constitutional privilege of free speech, mistaking and misunderstanding entirely the use of the words free speech, yet the right of the legislature to restrict the freedom of speech is a right which should be exercised with great care and caution.

Freedom of speech and of the press are the cornerstone of Anglo-Saxon democratic institutions. This freedom is not an absolute license to speak or to publish anything that one pleases, freed from all liability, else slander and libel and other similar malicious acts would go entirely unpunished; these rights, like other rights, must be exercised by people with some consideration for the rights of others.

Now that we know that each state may prohibit the doctrines of anarchy or communism, it still remains a grave question of public policy whether or not the state should enact any such law. Nauseous, ignorant and suicidal to all peace and order and happiness, as are these Russian doctrines, it may generally be said that the advocacy of them among an intelligent race of people never even gains a toe-hold. Their only danger in the United States is in those communities that are largely populated by the foreign born from southern and eastern Europe, unacquainted with our institutions, untutored, unable to read or write the English language. It needs that sort of a backward soil for communism to prosper. Aside from that there is no danger here from the Russian doctrine nor any of its cousins. No normal man or woman of intelligence has ever been known to believe in force when the ballot is in hand.

England does not prevent the teaching of communism. In Hyde Park or Trafalgar Square, the men of wild eye and wilder language are permitted to utter words that come to their tongue, the wilder the better. A little coterie of men may listen for a while, laugh and move on. England rests her form of government upon the education and the intelligence of the English people. In spite of adverse economic conditions in England during the last six years, grave unemployment, high prices and low wages, there has been no tendency there to forsake the paths of law and order for the jungles of anarchy. The Englishman knows that when things are bad it is not going to make them better to get mad; anarchy is the doctrine of hatred, the theory of the near-insane.

Among a class of people who are without rudimentary knowledge of governmental institutions and lacking the intelligence to understand, there may of course be danger of sporadic acts of violence resulting from anarchistic teaching. It was just such teaching coming to the bewildered mind of a Russian immigrant that ended in the assassination of the lamented McKinley.

Each state in the Union should size up its own people before it prohibits the teaching of violence in the overthrow of government. Unless it has within its borders a large mass of the densely ignorant, we think it would be poor policy to prohibit a public discussion of the theory of anarchy. We have too much faith in the intellectual ability of men and women who can read and write the English language to doubt the outcome. On the other hand, the most efficient way of defeating wild theory is to permit its due consideration and communism, while more of the character of a disease than theory, cannot live in the same atmosphere with intelligent discussion.

Prohibiting the discussion of anarchy in times of war is a case of another color entirely. War, and the necessity of united action, are in a class by themselves. When a nation has its back to the wall and is fighting for its very existence, it cannot direct its attention from well to anything excepting the enemy in front. It has no time to be heckled or badgered by a few featherbrained individuals at home. It must use all its resources and devote all its energies to the one purpose of terminating the war successfully. Under such conditions of affairs or some similar emergency, the prohibition of communistic discussion might be good policy; otherwise, we think it should be permitted.

ROADS NOT LUXURIES

The mileage of hard-surfaced roads is estimated by the United States department of agriculture at between 450,000 and 475,000 miles. It corrects an assumption likely to have gained ground that the amount of road building scheduled for any one year provides a net gain in road improvement. A large part of the work carried on annually, the major part probably, consists in rebuilding or resurfacing roads previously rated as hard-surface roads but which need repair. The actual gain in new construction since 1921 is estimated at not greatly in excess of 60,000 miles. Thus the 24,000 miles of work under way this year will not provide an equal mileage gained in hard roads, though the increase will be material.

Improved roads, the department remarks, are not luxuries. For the movement of every vehicle over a road there is a certain cost which is less if the road be improved than if it be left unimproved. The only limit that should be placed on expenditure for road improvement is the amount which can be saved in vehicle operating costs. On this basis of reasoning the country pays for improved roads whether it has them or not. It pays less by having them than by not having them.

TODAY'S POEM

KEEPIN' FIT

Though you're a man, if you'd feel like a child, just run yourself weary, yea, run yourself wild. Nothing brings pep when the day's work is done, like chasing yourself for a nice little run. Maybe your arms hang as heavy as lead, and maybe your muscles all feel like they're dead. No need to worry—that's only a trance. Exercise, man! Give your system a chance.

Most every person at some time has found, it's nice to be lazy and loafin' around. But say, when it gets you because of its charm, you fall in the habit, and then comes the harm.

You're only, at best, just a living machine. You're subject to rust, if you know what I mean. You can't keep in trim just by work-day toil. You'll find exercise is a mighty good oil.

Think of the fun, if you always felt good. Thus it can be, if you do as you should. True, there's no harm if you loaf for a bit, but exercise, man, if you want to keep fit.

IF I WERE STILL KING

"You probably don't remember unless you are an anti-vaccinationist or a pro-compulsory vaccinationist, that I said the other day that my first edict upon being crowned king would embody these three effects: (1) abolition of compulsory vaccination and any little tricky laws whereby the rabid vaccinationists enforce such an abuse indirectly; (2) the provision of free vaccination by the state (cost moi) for all who might desire the protection which we believe it affords; (3) abolition of all isolation, quarantine or other restrictions upon the liberty of subjects afflicted with smallpox or exposed to it. If this seemed at all undesirable, don't make me king, that's all."

If I were still king the morning after, I should call my fiscal agents, economists, revenue collectors and such, and set them to work on a plan to give a reasonable and just compensation to every subject who might be isolated for the public safety, no matter what disease such subject might have. It seems to me that under our present democratic (speaking humorously) government we work a sick injustice upon people whom we isolate in quarantine, not for their own welfare, mind you, but for the public welfare. Even the scum and the enemies of society that we isolate in prisons and other penal institutions receive more or less compensation—state's prisoners receive pay for their labor and free board and room and clothing and medical attention and movies and books and about everything one could desire for comfort. Why, then, do we assume, or rather usurp the right to isolate a respectable citizen for days, weeks or months without any compensation and indeed at great loss to himself? When I become king I'm gonna see that that respectable citizen gets a fair deal, even if I have to take away some of the soft privileges we have allowed enemies of the state.

The famous "Typhoid Mary," if I recollect, had the audacity to protest again being restricted in her choice of free labor and her right to travel, and am I in error in thinking that the court granted Mary something akin to alimony—I may be wrong, but anyway it ought to make a fine point at law and I wish some determined citizen would bring suit against the municipality or state that quarantines or isolates citizens to establish a precedent. What answer could the state enter to such a claim? Whose fault is it that the citizen catches typhoid fever or diphtheria or measles? Is it not the fault of the state? Has the state failed to "control" the preventable disease? Has not the state's officer, the health commissioner, failed in his duty to protect the public from the spread of such disease? What reasoning can the state transfer the burden of the cost of such protection of the public to the shoulders of the victim of the state's own negligence?

That the state has long abused citizens in this matter is no argument for the justice of the practice. A king long before my reign felt that he had the right to levy burdensome taxes upon the colonists of this country, but the colonists held a tea party and overturned a precedent.

So when I am king we'll have a fair schedule of compensation rates to be paid to the victim of isolation or quarantine, in honest recognition of the sacrifice such citizen makes in behalf of the state.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Meet Old Ben.

I have been told that eating strawberries will give one rheumatism or if one already has it, it will become worse. Is this so? (Miss R. E. N.)

Answer.—If it were so, a lot of us who just don't believe in rheumatism at all would be laid up with three or four kinds of rheumatism about this time of year. Get your shortcake while the berries are good. Strawberries are less nourishing than lemons, than which, as any fatuous fat woman can tell you, there is nothing than which. But then the shortcake of the realm will make up for any deficiency in nutritive value.

LOOKING BACKWARD

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, June 16, 1900.

The main power plant of Appleton Electric and Power Co. located on the government canal was totally destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock this morning. The only salvage was the engine and steam boilers. The company placed its loss at $5,000 to $10,000. The fire originated from a hot box on a line shaft in the second story and the buildings was in flames by the time the fire department arrived. The street lights and the city street car line were out of commission as a result but the company expected to obtain enough power from other sources to keep the homes supplied with current and the interurban lines running.

An entertainment was to be given at St. Joseph hall the following evening by the Young Peoples Literary society. Those to take part were Frank Krause, Theresa Maurer, Arnold Ebben, Oscar Nitschke, Jacob Jackels, Bertha Weinberg, William Stier, Theodore Kober, George Sauter, John Scheer, Joseph Loessl, and Gertrude Fose.

Invitations were issued for the marriage of W. H. Kreiss and Miss Bessie Brewster which was to take place on June 27.

The man who wrote the song, "The Battle Cry of Freedom," must have gotten his inspiration in a divorce court.

We always considered it a waste of energy to write those "Advice to Brides" articles. The only persons that read them are the husbands and the advice doesn't do them any good. If perchance there are any brides that do read them, they are beyond advice.

The one think that makes the Tunney Gibson fight look queer is that Jim Corbett was able to pick the winner. And now he is picking Tunney to beat Jack Dempsey. We can see why Gene's manager has become frightened and offered Jim $1,000 to pick out Dempsey instead.

ROLLO

Saturday Sermon

(The following sermon was prepared especially for the Post-Crescent by the Rev. A. L. Menner, rector, pastor of the German Methodist church.)

Mark 7:34 "And looking up to heaven, he sighed and said unto him, 'Ephphata,' that is, be opened."

Every act of Jesus is significant and full of meaning. Even the sigh of our Saviour has its lessons. The book which made St. Peter weep, the tears which fell by the grave of Lazarus, the sigh heaved for an afflicted man, all tell us of the sympathy of Christ; all act as a commentary on the words, "I know their sorrows." A deaf and dumb man had been brought to Jesus. He could not hear, therefore he could not form sounds properly. This must have been a blank, dull life until he met Jesus. He had never heard the prattle of children, or the cooling words of parents or friends. He had seen people weep, but could not enter into their sorrow; he had seen people merry, but there was no laughter for him. Perhaps he had never taken part in the solemn service of the Temple, for he could neither hear nor sing the songs of Zion, and now the touch of Him who doeth all things well has healed him. But why did Jesus sigh?

DENOTED SYMPATHY

First that sigh was one of sympathy for the afflicted. One of the great blessings of the incarnation is that it brings the heart of God close to our own, and we know that he feels and knows our sorrows. But that sigh was more, it was a sigh of sorrow over the effects of sin. Man, made in the image of God, had become through the effects of sin the poor dumb creature on which Christ looked. Doubtless it was the thought of Eden with its sinless inhabitants, and the contrast presented by the sight before him, made Jesus sigh.

But again, that sigh was one of apprehension. What use would the deaf and dumb man make of the gift of speech or hearing? Hitherto he had been unable to let any corrupt communication proceed out of his mouth, and his ears had been sealed to the cruel, false, the impure words of the world. We can understand why the sinless Jesus, who spoke as never a man spoke, sighed when the thought of all the evil which this might do with his tongue, and of all the poisonous words which might enter into his ears.

Who among the thoughtful has not sighed when looking on the speechless child in the cradle, thinking, what words those innocent lips might some day form? Who has not sighed when he sent his child to school, remembering what other lessons must enter his ears besides those of the classroom? Jesus looked up to heaven as he performed the miracle of healing. Surely this was to teach the man to look up also and to learn that every good gift comes from above. And more than that, the upward look was meant to remind the man, that as the gift of speech and of hearing came from God, he should consecrate those gifts to God's service. There is a lesson for all, Jesus says to our lips, our ears, our understanding, "Ephphata," be opened. He has given us a free will, so that we may use the powers of speech and hearing and thought as we choose.

DOES HE SIGH FOR US?

Do we ever make Jesus sigh by the words we say by the willing car which we give to evil communications, or by the evil thoughts we convey and encourage in others? Jesus has ascended into Heaven that he may draw His people upward in thought and word and deed.

Let us ask ourselves the question, "Is the ordinary talk of society such as God in heaven can approve?" He hears every word, and remember, we must give an account of our words as well as deeds. Men of business, are you quite satisfied with the words spoken and listened to in your office and place of business in buying, selling or contracting? What about the conversations taking place in the drawing room, the kitchen, talks which center around your neighbor, conversations of many, without one uplifting thought or one inspiring idea? Let us try, by the help of the spirit of truth, which is the spirit of Christ, to raise our conversations to a higher level. There is a vast amount of idle, careless and silly talk, the result of a thoughtless or at least shallow superficial life. Let our conversation center about the nobler, the higher things of life which inspire us to a noble life of service for God and for humanity.

Q. What is used to make window shades stiff? S. S. L.

A. Window shades are made from two kinds of cotton which are sold under many trade names. The Holland or unfilled shade cloth is starched with a stiff starch and ironed. It may be dyed any color. The second is opaque or filled shades cloth and is stiffened by using ordinary paint. Water colors, oil paints or tint may be used.

Q. Please tell me why the cliffs hears every word, and remember, we must give an account of our words as well as deeds. Men of business, are you quite satisfied with the words spoken and listened to in your office and place of business in buying, selling or contracting? Let our conversation center about the nobler, the higher things of life which inspire us to a noble life of service for God and for humanity.

Q. Will you suggest an appropriate bleeding to be said at table? F. E. C.

A. From the novel, "BenHur," by General Wallace, we take the following words spoken by Balthasar in the grove of palms: "Father of all, God what we have is of Thee, Take our thanks and bless us that we may continue to do Thy will."

Q. Who holds the record for fastest time in ice boat sailing? S. D. Van D.

A. On February 24, 1907, the ice-boat Wolverine broke all world's records for a two-mile course at Kalamazoo, Michigan, making the twenty miles in 33 minutes 50 seconds, which remains a record.

Q. What per cent of American manufactures depend upon agriculture? W. P. C.

A. Secretary Jardine said in a recent speech that 80 per cent of our American manufactures are thus dependent.

Q. Did Florida promise to drain the Everglades when the United States gave this territory to her? C. J. T.

A. When the everglades were ceded to Florida in 1822 there was no special obligation taken on by Florida to provide for their drainage. There was, however, an implied obligation to make use of the land. The Florida Internal Improvement Board has taken over the drainage.

Q. How did Florida get its name?

A. B.

A. The word "Florida" is Spanish and means "flower." It is possible that Ponce de Leon named this part of the country either for his discovery of it on Easter Sunday—Pascua Florida, meaning flowery Easter—or on account of the abundance of flowers he saw growing there.

Q. Do we see exactly one-half of the moon? W. S. W.

A. Owing to the facts that the rotation of the moon on its axis and its motion around the earth are not quite uniform, and that the moon's axis is not quite perpendicular to its orbit, we do see extra portions of the eastern and western faces, and the north and south caps. These motions caused by these deviations are called the librations of the moon, and they allow about three-fourths of the moon's surface to be visible at one time or another.

Q. When will the old German bank notes cease to be legal tender? T. F.

A. All German banknotes issued before October 11, 1924, must be redeemed by June 5, 1925, after which date they will cease to be legal tender. They are to be converted at the rate of one trillion paper marks for every reichsmark (old mark currency).

Q. What per cent of the children born are twins? M. S.

A. The American Genetic Association says that in 1917 it was estimated that 1.67 per cent of the number of babies born in the United States were twins. Twenty per cent of these are said to have been twins of the identical type.

Q. Did the President say that World

War Veterans were not to be discharged from civil service positions? T. L. P.

A. The Veterans Bureau says that and executive order of the President states that no veteran is to be disqualified from the civil service employ of the United States if his rating is good, and there is work which he is qualified to do.

The Urge of the Wanderlust

125 At Party Featured By Child Dances

One of the most attractive parties of the season was given Friday afternoon when Mrs. J. Leslie Sensenbrenner entertained about 125 guests at a program at the new Clubhouse. The clubhouse was transformed into a miniature theater, with scenery, drops, cyclorama and flood lights. Thirty child dancers of the studio of Mildred Hagerty, of Green Bay, was introduced as the cast. The program was divided into three episodes, "The Newland," "Step Routines" and "Divertissements."

Twelve current magazines arrayed as in a rack, had for their covers living models, which stepped forth and danced in accordance with the sentiment expressed by the title of the magazine. The second episode consisted entirely of step and clog dancing and the third of interpretive numbers.

The clubhouse was attractively decorated with potted geraniums and garden flowers. Iris was used in the reception room with peonies at the fireplaces. Service tables were adorned with pink geraniums in pots of pastel shades and light by pink candles in silver holders. Mrs. Sensenbrenner was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. A. L. LaCombe, of Green Bay.

Little Helen Jane Sensenbrenner was hostess to a small group of friends and to the 30 little dancers who made a gala picture as they gathered about the tea table in their colorful costumes. The program of dancers follows: "A Hotel Newland," "Bell Hop and Maid," Virginia and Mary Jane Don Levy; "A Couple of Customers," Betty and Jane Turnbull; "Art Lovers," Geraldine Reis; "Child Life," Ruth Weber; "Vanity Fair," Elsie Herney and Dorothy Schuring; "Lido," Billie Beck; "Dance Lovers," Maxine Brostrom; "Theatre," Florence Gallagher; "Classic," Peggy Riley; "Literary Digest," Caryl Lindberg; "Childrens Vogue," Meredith and Patsy Burke; "Dream World," Anne Olds Milhaupt; "Modern Priscilla," Emily Noble; "Snappy Stories," Virginia Oaks.

GIVE DRAMA AT S. S. SERVICE

"Light Bearers of Today," will be dramatized by the intermediate department at the children's day program to be presented at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in First Congregational church. The program will open with a prelude, the "Deluge," and will be followed by the beginners service: "Oil," "Light," and "God, Make My Life a Little Light." LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES- COTT TO THE LITTLE MAR- QUISE, CONTINUED

I looked at mother in surprise. Little Marquise. Where did she learn all this. Surely my mother had lived one of the most beautiful of lives with her husband. She had always been sheltered in dear old dad's arms as it were.

Why did she say to me that I was to be thankful that Jack did not understand me? What did she mean when she said that loving was all a game?

I had no time to ask her then what it all meant, for she, seeing the perplexity in my face, said: "Forgive my lecture, dear child. I have been afraid that you have been growing somewhat rebellious against that which is."

"Make the best of it all, my dear, for some time when all that you have will be only memories of that which you have known. You will understand that all of life is good."

"Of course it is," said a hearty voice. I turned quickly and found Jack holding out his arms to me. I walked straight into them.

Jack seemed to want to crush my life out of me. He held me so close and oh, but I was glad—so very glad, to be in his arms again.

When I took my arms from about his neck, and my lips from his, I turned and found that my mother had left us alone.

"Darling," said Jack, "I have been so lonely without you. After a man marries, no matter what he thinks, he can not return to his old free bachelor life. Something has come into his existence that makes him want to know his wife."

"Oh, Leslie, what a howling desert is a great big hotel when you are away."

"But Jack, you did not feel that way when you left for New York and left me alone?"

He stopped my words with kisses and said: "Stop! Tell me the truth. Breathe to breathe! Heart to heart! Life to life! Are you really glad to see me? Do you still love me even when I'm a brute to you? Did you want me even when you ran away from me and came down here?"

He seemed to be quite absorbed in looking into my eyes and I was glad he didn't notice the thirsting stare with which I devoured him. Oh, little Marquise, I never knew how much I had wanted my husband until I had him with me.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE RUBBISH MAN

"Is spring here?" said Nancy. "We have fixed up so many things that it must be pretty well started."

"Yes," said the March Hare. "It is pretty well started. Indeed it is so well started that people are beginning to clean house. If you listen you can hear the carpet beaters at this very minute."

"Then is our work all over?" asked Nick.

"Just about," said the March Hare, "but not quite. We must go and see the Rubbish Man. We have to tell him to get out his old horse and wagon and go and get the rubbish that gathers in the winter."

So off they went to the Rubbish Man's house.

"What is he?" he asked in surprise when he saw his visitors.

"Spring is here," said the March Hare. "I am surprised you didn't know it."

"Why so it is?" sniffed the Rubbish Man. "I smell it now. With all my doors and windows shut. I never get a whiff of it. My doesn't it smell sweet? It'll go and hitch up old Dobbin at once and we'll be gone."

"We?" cried the Twins. "Are we going, too?"

"Wouldn't you like a ride?" asked the Rubbish Man. "Dobbin isn't very fast, but he gets there. Besides, you could show me where all the rubbish is that I don't know about."

"Certainly," said the March Hare. "We'll be most happy, sir."

So they waited until the Rubbish Man had his cart hitched up. I mean his horse hitched up and off they all rode, the old wheels tilting this way and that as though any second they would fall off.

The Rubbish Man began to sing through his nose. "Rubbish, Rubbish!"

And then the back doors began to fly open and all the people stuck their heads out and some even called out of their windows which isn't, my dears, at all good manners, even to a rubbish man.

"Come and take my cans away," said Mrs. Wilson. "The garbage man won't take them with the garbage and I have about a million old cans in the cellar."

The Rubbish Man got her cans and charged her fifteen cents.

"Come and get my old springs," said Mrs. Robinson. "The children jumped on them until they are completely ruined. I had to get a new set."

"Yes'm," said the Rubbish Man and he charged her a quarter.

"Is that rabbit on your wagon for sale?" asked Mrs. Robinson.

"No'm," said the Rubbish Man.

STRESS CHILD WORK AT STATE CLUB MEETING

Mrs. W. C. Hammill of DePere, district president of the women's club of the Ninth district gave an interesting talk on the purpose and departments of the federation, at the sixteenth annual district convention at Elcho on June 9, 10 and 11. Delegates from Appleton were: Mrs. S. C. Shannon, Mrs. George Wettengel, Mrs. B. F. Goodrich, Mrs. L. Louise Ellis, Mrs. Edward Cummings and Mrs. John Schuettler.

The opening session consisted of routine reports by officers of the district. Mrs. Hammill stressed particularly in her talk the legislative department through which the children of the state institutions are protected and the protection of normal children through the enactment of child labor laws.

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Edward Hammill of Sheboygan, state vice president, urged clubs to use only trained workers to handle their departments. "Blunders of untrained women are hard to rectify," she explained. The state departments of the federation are the finance, the endowment, the Layton art scholarship, educational law fund, the parliamentary law and the press publicity departments. Talks were given on Art, and a luncheon was held at which talks relating to work among country women were featured.

Olive Branch society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church met Friday evening. Routine business was transacted.

Mrs. James Hawley of Greenville, is seriously ill at St. Elizabeth hospital.

"He's a friend of mine. I wouldn't sell him."

The Twins laughed, but the March Hare looked uneasy. "It's getting near Easter and I'd better be going back to Fairyland," he said.

They took so much rubbish away, the Rubbish Man made three dollars and forty cents that day.

RURAL TEACHER HAS REAL TASK, SENATOR SAYS

Class of 55 at Rural Normal School Is Presented With Diplomas

Kaukauna—That the country school teacher has a harder job than the city teacher was the thought expressed by Senator W. H. Hunt of River Falls, in his commencement address Friday evening at exercises of Outagamie rural normal school. The program was held in the high school auditorium and was attended by about 250 parents and friends of the graduates.

In addition to taking charge of all matters pertaining to the school the country school teacher must be a leader in the community. The speaker declared. The teacher must command the respect and confidence of those whose children she is teaching.

The senator declared it was a good thing that people are able to gather together for a common cause. He said those present were there in the interest of institutions which train their children for good citizenship, which, Mr. Hunt declared, is absolutely necessary. One of the teacher's first duties is to instill in the minds of the children the ideals of democracy and the idea that they are living in the greatest country in the world.

CHANGED TODAY

The speaker compared teaching with educational conditions of today with those of many years ago. He said it was interesting for the older people to get together and tell about the good old days. But conditions which were all right then are not all right now. The senator said it was a good plan for us to take our hats off to our ancestors for the work they accomplished and to do them honor but when we squared around to the present day it is a better plan to take off our coats, roll up our sleeves and get to work.

Due to progress in every line it is necessary to have better equipment. Mr. Hunt recalled when a high school graduate was entitled to teach after passing an examination. Now it is necessary to secure special training and special equipment is required.

NEED INTEREST

Mr. Hunt remarked that one of the prime factors that makes for success in teaching is interest in the work and the community. The teacher who declares she does not like the town or its surroundings has already half failed in her attempt to teach successfully. The speaker said that conditions in the school or community who must feel that she is going into a splendid position and who must learn to know the parents of the children she has charge of.

Diplomas were presented to a class of 55 students by A. G. Mealing, county superintendent, who gave a short outline of the things expected of the new teachers.

A duet "Calm as the Night" was sung by Miss Luella Bronson and Miss Olive Jacobson. The class sang "Maytime," "June" and "Larghetto" from Beethoven's Second Symphony. The professional and recreational marches were played by the augmented school orchestra.

The class flower is the tea rose and its motto is "Build for Character, Not for Fame."

LAURA GLENZER BRIDE OF MILWAUKEE MAN

Kaukauna—Miss Laura Glenzer, Milwaukee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Glenzer, and David Herzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Herzer, Milwaukee, were quietly married at 5 o'clock Friday evening in formal church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. L. Worthman. Miss Lillian Glenzer, sister of the bride, and Arthur Evans, Milwaukee, attended the couple. A wedding dinner for about 20 relatives was served at the bride's home, 105 Fifth-st., following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Herzer left in the evening on a week's auto trip. They will live in Milwaukee. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. David Herzer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jahn and daughters, Green Bay and Mrs. Virgil Seibert and son, Chicago.

CHURCHLESS NOW HEAR MASSES IN PARISH BUILDING

Tired Firemen Called Back Again to Ruins of Catholic Edifice Friday

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The local fire department remained at the smoldering ruins of what was once beautiful Most Precious church, all day on Friday. Thinking that all danger was past at noon, they left the church to obtain some badly needed rest, as they had been working steadily since 2 o'clock Friday morning; but they were called back on the job at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when under a strong mass in the ruins were again blazing. A thorough job was made the last time, and all smoldering debris extinguished.

Although parts of the four walls, merely shells, are still standing, the building is a total loss, and the remaining brick will be torn down in a short time. An attempt was made by the fire department to shoot down with a rifle a part of one wall which still remained on a Friday afternoon, and which was a great menace to workers as they feared it would fall at any time. The bullets tore great holes through the brick, and dislodged huge pieces which sailed earthward.

It was learned later that the Hortonville fire department had given invaluable assistance in helping to save the Sisters' home which stood next to the burning building. The Hortonville department, however, remained but a short time.

The loss of the building and contents was $75,000. The exact insurance amounts to $51,500 on the building and $7,000 on the contents, making a total of $58,500. An official will probably arrive next week to inspect the loss.

The chalice, ciborium and a few vestments were all that was saved. The Rev. Father Otto Kolbe, who will say both masses in the parish hall at 7 and 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

The church was 35 years old, built in 1890. Since then, there have been four priests in the congregation. The Rev. A. L. Gasper built the edifice and remained with the congregation until 1894, when the Rev. John Hummel took charge of the church. Father Hummel left in 1901 and was succeeded by the late Rev. John Kaster, who was killed in an auto accident June 17, 1923. The present pastor, appointed July 1, 1923, is the Rev. Father Otto Kolbe. A belief that the church fire was extinguished after all the hard work of the day and the night before was dissipated again when the embers started burning at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. This was quite a surprise to the firemen in view of the heavy rains that fell. It took four hours of work until 9 o'clock Saturday morning to deluge the ruins sufficiently to extinguish the coals.

FREE TICKETS TO FRENCH STUDENTS

Students of any of the local schools who apply at Fischer's Appleton Theatre on Monday afternoon and make the request in French will be admitted free to "The Little French Girl." This photoplay adapted from the fastest selling novel in this country today, centers around a fascinating French divorcee and her quietly beautiful daughter. Desirous of having the girl grow up free from the sophistication that surrounds her, Mme. Vervier (Alice Joyce) sends Alix, played by Mary Brian (Wendy of Peter Pan fame) to visit at the fashionable home of friends in England. How, even here, her mother's unsavory reputation lies like an abyss across her path to happiness is told in what is destined to be one of the finest pictures of the current season.

"Hot Dog," Says Doug as Income Grows

To fortify himself against old age, Douglas Fairbanks has entered a partnership with Syd. Grauman and one Jessie Fuller and wife, and opened up a "hot dog" restaurant on the Pickford-Fairbanks lot. "Business is fine," Doug announces.

"The first day's receipts were thirty-five cents, but later when we serve chicken dinners for forty cents we hope to reap a big profit." Syd Grauman is enthusiastic over the new business venture and has therefore bought a new Rolls-Royce on the strength of the success of the restaurant.

We have a friend. This friend is reliable and has never failed to relate to us the truth. It suffers when we are displeased with the tale it tells us. But of one thing we are certain—no matter what the fact or how much pain it gives, the truth will out.

Our friend's name is Mr. Box Office. When a picture is good, Mr. Box Office tells us it is so. When a picture is awful Mr. Box office groans. Newspapers hire critics to judge the value of pictures, and they are as good as their guesses. We have one which works for no salary and never misses.

Will Rogers owns some land in the vicinity of the site of a branch of the University of California, Hollywood, which jumped away up in value last week. Lived near Columbia university two years and didn't learn a thing, in fact it was a detriment."

South African Locale Provides Picturesque Setting for Thrill Crowded "Top of the World" at This Theatre Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday

One of the noteworthy features of the production is the amazing film of facts which Charles G. Clarke, the camera wizard has achieved. James Kirkwood plays a dual role—that of the two cousins—and in several places both men fight, clasp hands and walk past each other in the same scene!

A dramatic moment occurs when Kirkwood discovers his wife in the hotel bedroom of his worthless cousin. Believing that she intended keeping a clandestine appointment with the other man, he tries to leave, with the avowed determination to kill his cousin. But Nilsson, pleading her innocence, prevents him from going. For the first time she confesses that she loves him and surrenders to his caresses.

One of the big punches in the picture takes place in the lobby of the hotel. The villainous doctor, Kleff, insults Nilsson. In the presence of a roomful of people, Kirkwood beats him into insensibility with a rawhide horsewhip.

It is the storm and rescue episodes, however, that lift the production out of the mediocre class and provide a choice assortment of new thrills for audiences to enjoy. You see the lightning flashing over the jagged peaks of the far mountains and the rain streaming down thru the black night. A dam bursts and a wall of water sweeps down a canyon, washing away a party of blacks who are fleeing in terror before it. Onward the water rushes, carrying death and destruction. The whole valley is flooded; houses collapse and human beings are drowned. Kirkwood and Nilsson are enveloped in the swirling torrent; they struggle desperately to save themselves and finally manage to grab hold of the overhanging branch of a tree that has withstood the fury of the storm. Thus they escape to a high plateau—the top of the world and safety.

This theatre wants to show good pictures. It is our aim to serve the people, and receive enough compensation so we may buy bread and meat. In exchange we are willing to show the kind of pictures people want to see.

Frank Morgan has been signed to support Thomas Meighan in his next picture, "Whisper." Besides playing at the Paramount Long Island studio, Morgan will continue on the stage in his present role with Joseph Schildkraut in "The Firebrand."

Beating 'em to It
Henry Ford's son is getting around the country detour signs by inventing a flivver flying machine.

Betty Blythe was walking a mile for a camel when captured by Arabs, according to latest London dispatches. Edward Sutherland, now in Hollywood to direct Raymond Griffith in his first starring venture for Paramount, "Are You a Mason?" has been signed to a long-term contract. Paramount has signed Louise Brooks, one Florenz Ziegfeld's musical comedy girls appearing in "Louie the 14th." Her first screen appearance will be as a minor player in Herbert Brenon's "The Street of Forgotten Men." Sidney Olcott will soon start shooting "Not So Long Ago." Ricardo Cortez and Betty Bronson have been selected for the leading role.

Our Audience Is Our Boss

Our guest for one performance and thereafter our patron. New patrons at Fischer's Appleton Theatre are quick to note the atmosphere of courtesy and friendliness, the earnest desire of every member of the organization that the program and service please in every way. It is the spirit that makes our patrons feel that it their theatre, instead of merely another picture show.

LABORER BEST BET THESE DAYS FOR MERCHANTS

They Are Prosperous and Have Funds With Which to Buy, Babson Says

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson seldom discusses the labor situation. We do not know whether this is because he has had labor troubles of his own and a burnt child dreads the fire, or because labor conditions are fundamentally a problem of human nature rather than a problem of statistics. The Babson Institute, however, has recently been making some studies of common labor conditions, the conclusions of which are very illuminating. Concerning these Mr. Babson states as follows:

"Whatever may be true of any section of the country or any line of industry, the fact nevertheless remains that common labor is today getting more in commodities for an hour's work than ever before in the history of the world. Furthermore, there is practically no unemployment today amongst common labor, while the demand for common labor in most sections of the country exceeds the supply. This condition is due to many reasons, but probably it is primarily due to the restrictions that have been imposed on immigration since the war. People who have not studied the figures little realize the extent to which the supply of common labor has been cut off. In 1913 (fiscal year ending June 30, 1914) 1,218,450 immigrants came to this country. During the succeeding years this immigration has been cut down as shown by the following table:

Year ending June 30, 1914	1,218,450
Year ending June 30, 1915	326,700
Year ending June 30, 1916	298,826
Year ending June 30, 1917	255,403
Year ending June 30, 1918	110,618
Year ending June 30, 1919	141,132
Year ending June 30, 1920	400,001
Year ending June 30, 1921	805,228
Year ending June 30, 1922	309,556
Year ending June 30, 1923	322,919
Year ending June 30, 1924	705,896

This shows a shortage of nearly 9,000,000 during these ten years.

CAN'T GO DOWN

"It was hoped that the year 1924 would bring us back to normal but—although our best year—1924 was 500,000 short. Apparently 1924 is the peak for the present as it is estimated that the figures for 1925 will be only about 70 per cent of the figures for 1924 and these will be largely old men and women. In the meanwhile, the demand for common labor is constantly increasing. With the supply being cut off and the demand being greater, common labor wages are bound to hold to high figures. Common labor wages in the South have doubled and tripled since 1913, and in most sections common labor wages are now above the peak of war times. In some sections, where the rate at present is 60 cents an hour, attempts are being made to raise this to 80 cents.

"It is interesting to note that the wages of common labor have climbed upward without the aid of any labor union. There are, of course, instances where common labor is unionized, but these are very few. Economists point to this fact as evidence of their statement that labor unions do not increase wages in the long run. Labor unions improve working conditions and tend to restrict the supply, but they never secure for labor more wages in the terms of commodities for an hour's work than if the unions did not exist. This statement is apparently borne out by the fact that the greatest reduction in wages during the past month has been in some of the most highly organized industries such as the textile, shoe, and mining trades. Most of the wage increases, on the other hand, have been among civic employees and common labor which have practically no labor unions. Apparently the old law of supply and demand, which we all like to apply to the other fellow but which none of us like to have applied to ourselves, is still working on the job. Common labor, without any union organization, is prospering today as never before; while shoe workers, mine workers and textile workers, who are highly organized are leading through unemployment.

THEY BUY STOCKS

"Another very interesting sidelight on the situation is the fact that there are now available from the stockholders lists of certain large corporations showing the occupations of the people who are buying stocks today. The most careful records regarding such are kept by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which divides stockholders into seven groups. This company finds

Short Wheat Crop May Not Create Boom In Fall

BY JOHN T. FLANN

New York—Beyond a doubt the most important single fact reported this week is the statement of the Department of Agriculture that winter wheat promises the smallest crop in eight years. This may be good for the price of wheat to the farmers, but the gain may be more than offset in the losses in product. The yield per acre is apparently to be very small. It is not yet possible to estimate what the actual effect on the farmer population as a whole will be. But those who are forecasting a great boom in the fall, will want to revise their estimates in the face of this report.

Another point of great interest through the week has been the general situation in Europe.

Unquestionably the political and economic situation in Europe has shown further improvement. The growing stability of the country of the large loans made by this country and the higher agricultural prices (which have improved the purchasing power of agricultural sections the world over), have all tended to increase international trade, greater activity in European industry is evident, with the exception of the coal and iron.

The entrances and clearances of shipping at French and German ports in the first two months of the year were not only considerably greater than a year ago but were also over the figures for 1923. Entrances at English ports were also greater, but clearances were unfavorably affected by the depressed coal trade.

Naturally, the question arises: Will growing European industry curtail foreign markets for American products? Undoubtedly keen competition in foreign trade is to be expected, but, as recently pointed out in a statement issued by the Department of Commerce, there are several factors which will handicap European competitors: (1) High interest rates and shortage of working capital; (2) High taxes; (3) Rising wages, diminishing an advantage which has existed since the war; (4) Higher and more stable exchange rates, removing an advantage which certain foreign countries have enjoyed temporarily in selling abroad.

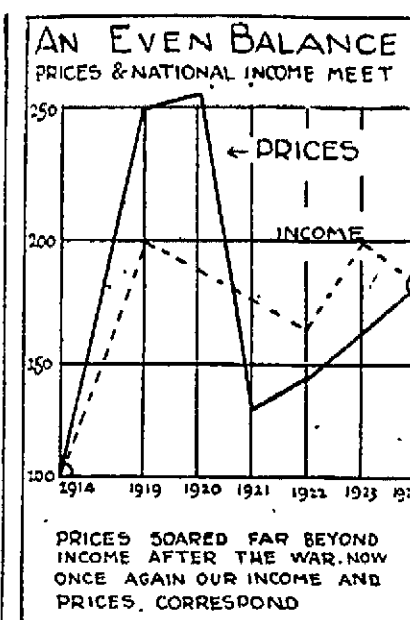

It is also to be remembered that continual expanding purchasing power in South America and the Orient make it possible for each one of a number of competitors to enjoy trade expansion. I. e., gains by European exporters do not necessarily mean reduction in our foreign trade.

Our exports and imports of commodities in April both were larger in value than they were a year ago. Both exports and imports were also a that common labor heads the list with 24,317 subscriptions and comes second in the list of Number of Shares Subscribed, while dressmakers foot the list with a figure of only 1,032 subscribing to but 5,152 shares. Of course, there is a reason for this. Laborers head the list because common labor is the most prosperous of any group at the present time, while dressmakers are the least prosperous because ready-made women's dresses are so rapidly taking the place of the work of individual dressmakers. Of the group of seventeen different occupations, housewives come second, following common labor. This also illustrates most forcibly the great change taking place today; namely, the coming of women into a financial independence never before witnessed. Real estate agents, bond salesmen and bank solicitors find their best prospects today are amongst women and so-called 'common' labor, which by the way will soon become very 'uncommon' if the tide continues its flow in the present direction.

"Many are wondering why it is that new building holds up so well and savings deposits are continually increasing, when general business is not so good. The answer to this is that a very large proportion of the new building is of workmen's houses and apartments or other structures financed by securities purchased by working people. Moreover, savings bank depositors are very largely made up of common laborers, so-called. These people have not yet been caught by the installment net, as have executives, clerks, and the so-called middle class. It is true that 'common labor' is fast getting automobiles on the installment plan, but otherwise they pay cash pretty much for what they purchase because their credit has not yet been established, even to the installment dealer. All of this means that common labor offers a most fertile field for manufacturers and merchants at the present time. Advertisers would their highbrow customers and appeal more often to common labor and general wage workers.

"Tremendous changes are taking place in the status of workmen. The time is fast approaching when there may be more social prestige in welding the pick and shovel than in wielding the pen and typewriter. It was only a few years ago that a girl would rather have a sweetheart a clerk in a store at $12 a week than a carpenter at $25 per week. Today, however, the sensible girl is little above the average of the last five years.

Exports decreased in April, falling from $450,000,000 in March to $400,000,000. This decline was in part merely seasonal, but it was somewhat greater than normal. Accordingly, the index number, after adjustment for seasonal variation, declined to 112.6 against 123.7 in March, the average for 1921 being 100.

Imports also declined in April, falling from $385,000,000 in March to $349,000,000. An April decline in imports is usual, but the decrease was a little more than commonly occurs. As a result, the adjusted index fell from 165.9 to 162.3, the average for 1921 being 100. The three-month moving average shown in the graph also declined slightly.

Our exports have been affected by huge shipments of raw materials, chiefly cotton, wheat, copper. In the case of wheat particularly, the large outward movement has been coupled with higher prices. Since Aug. 1 the United States has shipped 56 per cent more cotton to Great Britain than formerly, 44 per cent more to Germany, and 45 per cent more to Japan. This movement can hardly be expected to continue, especially in the case of wheat, which promises to be in small supply in this country during the coming season.

In the field of pure trade, the outstanding fact is the report that sales for this year have been in excess of those for last year. Business may be depressed, but somebody is making sales and all these goods being shipped are going to and from somebody. Copyright, U. P. C. News Service, Inc.

LUMBER ORDERS TAKE BIG JUMP

Gains of 20 Per Cent Over Last Year—Production Is Decreased

As compared with last year, orders received by the larger sawmills of the country gained one hundred thirty-two million feet during the first twenty-two weeks of 1925, or 20 per cent, while production decreased nearly seven million feet. For the week ended May 30, 362 mills shipped 5 per cent more than they cut, and had orders for 24 per cent of their production.

Southern pine shipments for the week declined about seven million feet, largely because of mill stock conditions, and orders fell off five million feet, probably for the same reason as certain times are becoming harder to buy, while production made a gain of about a million and a half feet, the mills operating fully in order to keep assortments rounded up. The price situation in southern pine is still very spotted, but firmness is becoming more general.

Largely because numbers of fir mills that have been closed a five-day schedule have returned to a six-day, orders for the week ended May 30 weighed the situation carefully seeing that the carpenter, bricklayer and plasterer may be able to give her a more comfortable home than the bank clerk or some other chap who wears a white collar. Considering all labor in all sections of the country it averages up to be about a normal condition. This is why the country is more free from strikes today than it has been for a long time. There is an excess of wage increases or wage decreases. This condition is reflected in the Babson chart, which today registers 1 per cent below normal. If, however, a Babson chart were constructed in which common labor was the only barometer used, we would find it running 100 or 200 per cent above normal.

NEW HOMES ARE SUPPLIED WITH SHOWER BATHS

A. J. Bauer Finds Public Alert to Advantages of This Type of Bath

"With the approach of hot weather the shower bath has become a necessity in every home, and almost every residence built recently has been supplied with one," according to A. J. Bauer, plumber. "Without a shower, Mr. Bauer went on, the daily baths necessitated by the excessive heat here require more time than the average person has at his command, while with the shower only a few minutes are required for a refreshing bath.

There are various kinds of shower-baths, and more people are realizing this fact every day, judging from the number of such appliances installed in recent years.

There are various kinds of shower-baths, according to Mr. Bauer, but the kind most generally used in the home is a simple douche projecting from the wall above the ordinary tub, with a curtain hung on a circular frame to keep the water from spraying all over the room. A more elaborate shower at a slightly higher cost is finding great favor, however, especially in homes of the better class. This is called an individual shower and is put into a bathroom tiled and rendered waterproof especially for that purpose. Several of these are being installed in Appleton residences at present by Mr. Bauer and their use is growing quite general.

In addition to the shower bath most people also have tubs in their homes. Mr. Bauer stated. There is a large variety of these as regards shape and size, but all of them are made either of enameled iron or of porcelain. The iron tub is used more widely because of its durability and cheaper cost, and the fact that each tub, and for that matter every fixture of the same material is guaranteed and replaced if a flaw is found in it, makes it almost impossible to go wrong in having one installed.

Recently it has become the fashion to have bathrooms done in tinted tiles with the fixtures to match, but the great expense of such rooms prevents them from becoming popular in the average home. Plain white tubs and fixtures with enameled walls are almost generally in use, Mr. Bauer said, and in his opinion these will remain the most popular on the market.

Shower-baths, however, totaled 16 per cent more than was cut. It is believed the spurt in production is in preparation for the summer shut-down. Orders from the middle west are in greater volume, and so large amounts have been booked for shipment to the Atlantic coast that vessel rates are advancing. Both California and inland Empire pine manufacturers report large increases in booking during the week. The softwood market, says the American Lumberman, Chicago, is working into a stronger statistical position and sales prospects are daily improving so that prices show a healthier tone.

Most hardwood orders are for small quantities, but a few larger ones are now making their appearance. Overseas shipments of southern hardwoods are being placed. The automobile group leads in purchases, the building trades continue to take a good volume, and more buying has been done recently by the furniture makers. Although new northern stocks are becoming shipping dry, the market does not show the weakness some buyers expected, but remains firm. Southern logging is slowing down, and there are many reports of curtailed mill production.

1925 PAVING PROGRAM WILL COST CITY $151,273

AVERAGE PRICE TO TAXPAYER IS $4.28 EACH FOOT

Highest Cost Is on State-st Where City Fixes Figure at $7.10

Owners of property abutting on the nine streets included in the 1925 paving program will pay an average of $4.28 a running foot for the laying of pavements on the streets on which their property lies, but the cost a foot ranges from $1.85 for reinforced concrete on Durkeest which is merely to be widened, for the same material on State-st. This comprises the total cost to property owners, the city bearing all drainage costs. Paving expense to property owners on Cherry and Richmond-sts, where reinforced concrete will be laid, will be less than that on other streets, because of the fact that the county highway commission has appropriated $20,000 to pay for its share of the undertaking. Consequently the cost per running foot to residents of Cherry-st will be $3.74, and on Richmond-st $3.64.

Meadest property owners will be assessed $4.20 a running foot of pavement. Johnston property owners will have to pay $4.07. Bateman-st residents $4.57, and Lawe-st, $5.13. All these streets will be paved with bitulithic.

The board of public works has assessed benefits and damages against the property abutting on the streets to be paved, and has posted notices showing the amounts to be paid by each one. It is the prerogative of such property owners to appear before the board at 10 o'clock on the morning of June 17 to file protests against these assessments, and if these protests are not heard the property owner may appeal to the city council or to the circuit court within a period of five days set for that purpose. If, at the end of the 5-day period no appeals have been made, there will be no further opportunity to object.

The total cost of paving all the streets will be $151,273.11, of which the city will pay $33,423.81 as its share. Total costs for the various streets will be as follows: Cherry-st, $29,337.28; Richmond-st, $44,532.33; Lawe-st, $51,463.57; Meadest, $7,328.55; Johnston, $3,442.92; Drew-st, $10,364.05; Bateman-st, $4,423.05; State-st, $2,769.25; and Durkeest, $666.08. The city will pay no part of the cost of paving Bateman, State or John-sts, but on the other hand will bear all or the greater part of the expense on the Drew-st hill. On Cherry-st the city will bear $5,442.23 of the total expense; on Richmond-st, $6,932.33; on Lawe-st, $12,612.57; on Meadest, $1,969.55; on Drew-st, $6,343.05; and on Durkeest, $152.

CHILTON BUSINESSMEN ORGANIZE ROTARY CLUB

Chilton will be the next city of the Tenth district to have a Rotary club. The Chilton club has a membership of 24, and its officers have been elected. Plans are now being made for presentation of the charter, which is expected to take place some time this month.

The Chilton club is the sixth to be organized during the term of Herbert Ludin, district governor, who will be succeeded in office July 1 by Lee C. Rasey, Appleton. It is possible that Mr. Rasey may present the charter. If the charter meeting cannot be held before July 1, Rotary clubs organized last year are Clintonville, Oconomowoc, Eau Claire, Neenah, West Bend, Chilton.

WISCONSIN HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION

All state trunk highways in Wisconsin are in splendid condition, according to reports which reached local highway offices. Very little heavy construction work is being done, and the few detectors necessary are all marked and maintained.

Conditions in other mid-western states are not quite so good, however. Construction on Michigan 15 and 35 necessitate two detours in the upper peninsula. Travelers from Escanaba to Marquette are being forced to leave 15 at Rapid River, thence over the Days River road and 35 to Marquette.

M-35 is under construction between Rock and Lathrop, so that through traffic between Escanaba and Neenah is being sent over M-15. A number of Illinois roads have been closed for construction. Two of the new tourists' camps in the Cook County forest preserve were opened for use last week, ten others will open later.

Reports from the west indicate that the East Yellowstone Trail is in good shape from Casper to Cheyenne. There are still several short detours around construction work between Chugwater and Cheyenne. The West Yellowstone highway is reported good from Casper to Shoshoni and Thermopolis; excellent from Thermopolis to Cody, but heavy going between Moneta and Richards.

The Custer Battlefield highway is reported fair to good and open all the way from Des Moines, Ia., to Glacier Park.

Stops your car Quicker! in 45 feet—going 25 miles an hour!

AFTER a series of tests made on Jan. 21, 1925, Mr. Thos. J. Whalen, President Knight Cab Co., of Toledo, Ohio, signed the following statement: "Our Cabs, with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, can be stopped, going 25 miles an hour, in 45 feet."

Wet weather makes no difference. RUSCO is an all-weather lining. It will stop your car just as quickly in wet weather as in dry. Turn the hose on Rusco-lined brakes. Then on any other kind. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability! It is treated with a special compound that makes it resist water, heat, oil, dirt and wear. It will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining—it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you another brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco's superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are brake lining experts, using special electrical equipment for countersinking rivets in lining and riveting lining to brake band.

DOKEYS TO PUT ON CEREMONIAL

Pythians May Launch Orphan Home at Grand Lodge Conclave at Oshkosh

Many Appleton Pythians, Pythian sisters and Knights of the Dramatic Order of Khorassan will leave for Oshkosh Monday to attend the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The local Dokeys will put on a ceremonial at the convention, and their conclave Monday will precede that of the other knights and sisters.

The Oshkosh lodge has taken great pains in completing preparations for the grand lodge and plans to make it one of the greatest conclaves in history. F. W. Frohling, chairman of the committee on arrangements, and his fellow members, have had an extremely busy period.

Considerable speaking will take place at the banquet Tuesday evening in the dining hall of the First Methodist Episcopal church. E. W. Weisbrod will be toastmaster at that event. R. L. Warner of Sheboygan, supreme representative will be among the chief speakers. R. S. Witte, supreme vice commander, will be the only national officer of the higher rank included among the speakers. Fred Knoell, grand vice chancellor, F. W. Gillman, grand chancellor, Evansville, and John Eager, Racine, grand prelate, also will deliver addresses.

The chief project up for discussion at the convention will be the establishment of a state home for orphans and the aged. It is expected a definite decision will be made concerning this question. Election of officers of the individual organizations that make up the Knights of Pythias will be held in separate sessions of the joint convention.

Flapper Parade Pleases

A large crowd witnessed the flapper parade at Brighton beach Thursday evening. Ella Matowitz and Mildred Konkel won first and second prizes and other prizes were awarded to Lorraine Zayer, Helen Simmes and Margaret LeConte. Other contestants were Freda Schmirling, Sadie Selow, Letha Keller, Helen Gutowsky, Viola Stinsky, Clara Mottel, Della Young, Frances Madolney and Mary Lavinsky.

VOECKS TERM OUT AS A. A. L. TRUSTEE

National officers will be nominated at the annual convention of the Wisconsin federation of the Aid Association for Lutherans in Oshkosh Saturday, and more than 50 Appleton members have done to the conclave. It is expected that more than 1,000 members from all over the state were present at the voting, which is to fill vacancies resulting from expiration of the terms of several officers in the national headquarters here.

The term of Albert Voecks as trustee and of Alex O. Benz of Fond du Lac as director of the national association expires on Dec. 31, and candidates for these offices will be chosen at Oshkosh. The annual banquet will be held at 6 o'clock in the evening at the municipal clubhouse after practically the whole afternoon has been devoted to business. Following the banquet a program of entertainment will be given, and will conclude the annual convention.

EPISCOPAL JUBILEE HONORS DR. DAFTER

Dr. William Dafter, pastor of Grace church here from 1895 to 1903, was presented at the luncheon of Episcopal functionaries held at Fond du Lac recently in connection with the jubilee celebration of Fond du Lac diocese.

He was presented by the Rev. Lucius D. Hopkins, who told of his work as one of the pioneers of the diocese and cited his example as one of the reasons for the present strength of the Episcopal church.

Dr. Dafter was called to many cities in Wisconsin and did heroic work as a missionary in the north, the Rev. Father Hopkins told his hearers. His last charge was as vicar of St. Albans in Marshfield, from which position he resigned in 1911 to go into complete retirement and return to Marinette.

Thomas H. Ryan, Jr., Willard Butler and Thomas Butler have returned from St. Norbert college, DePere, to spend the summer vacation at their homes in Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Milhaupt and Miss Isabel Milhaupt were in Green Bay Friday to attend the graduation exercises of Miss Veronica Milhaupt at St. Joseph academy.

An Entirely New Kind of Motor Car Travel

Changing our Transportation Habits

We predict that within a month after we have delivered your Chrysler Six all your ideas of travel will be changed—revolutionized.

Instead of traveling by train, nine times out of ten you'll travel in your Chrysler Six.

Scores of times during the year your Chrysler Six will take the place of the railroad because you'll prefer the newer way that only the Chrysler Six offers—

Simply because the Chrysler Six is so swift, so safe, so comfortable, it becomes unnecessary to subject yourself to the older method.

With the advantages that only the Chrysler Six offers it is the most logical thing in the world to take the road in your own car, whether the jump be long or short, whether for business or pleasure.

We predict that your Chrysler Six will make these changes in your ideas and habits of travel because it has already done so with thousands of owners.

They find not only can they travel swiftly in their Chrysler Six, but in greater comfort and safety. In many instances it also enables them to cut out the Pullmans and spend the night in their own comfortable beds at home.

All this is just what might have been expected when you consider the nature of the results which only the Chrysler Six delivers.

Swiftness—Ease—Safety.

There is more speed in the Chrysler Six than you'll ever use—even when you're in a hurry to make the next town.

You have command of a high-gear speed range of from 2 to better than 70 miles an hour. Few would care to let the car out to its limit.

You don't need this highest speed to make any journey in better time than other cars. Drive at an average of 35 miles and still you'll save time over others because the Chrysler Six is so alert, because it gets away so quickly and is so easy to handle, so sure in control. It is always first out of traffic.

Turns and rough roads need not worry you. You can take a turn in safety at 50 miles an hour and drive comfortably at 60 miles over cobble stones and rutted roads.

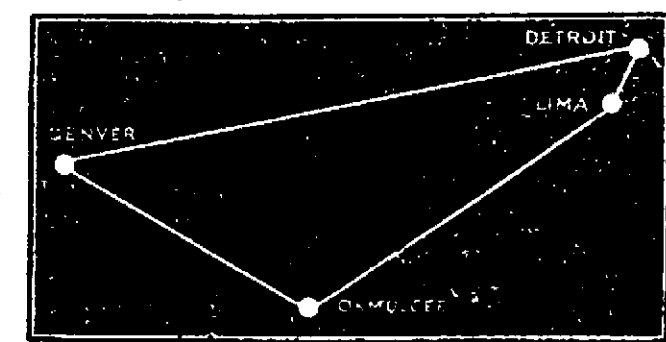

Roadability is one of the Chrysler's most remarkable features. It clings to the road as though it really weighed as much as two tons.

You'll drive in town or country all day without fatigue because of its easier riding qualities which efficient Watson stabilizers have made still more remarkable by the elimination of re-bound shock on even the roughest highways.

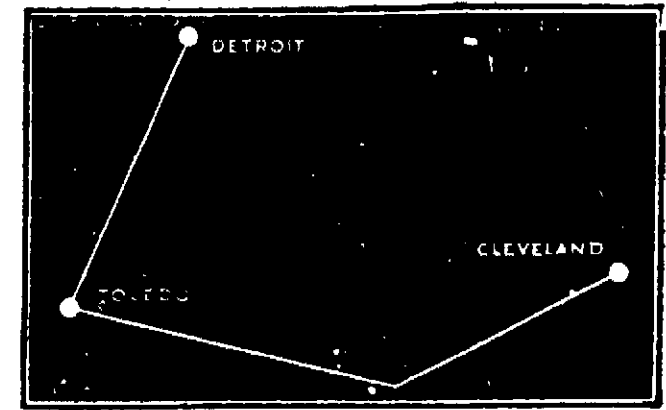

You'll drive always with the greatest possible safety because Chrysler-Lockheed self-equalizing hydraulic four-wheel brakes give you perfect control.

You'll find yourself freed of motor worries by the Purolator, which automatically and continuously filters all dirt out of the oil in your crank-case as you drive; by the efficient air-cleaner which keeps all dust and dirt out of your carburetor and engine.

We make one more prediction. After you have once had a ride in this car you'll always think of better transportation in terms of Chrysler Six. That ride is awaiting your convenience.

In Okmulgee, Oklahoma, is an oil man whose business takes him often to Denver, to Detroit, to Lima, Ohio, and back to Okmulgee. Some trip! He used to do it by train of course. Now he makes it in his Chrysler Six with ease and comfort and is an enthusiast over the newer and better way.

A Detroit man goes to Toledo frequently on business, then to Cleveland and back to Detroit. He used to do it by train, usually on the sleeper. Now he travels in his Chrysler Six, starts at his own time in the morning, makes Toledo and Cleveland the same day, transacts business in each place and is free to start back home when he chooses, regardless of train schedules.

Results that only Chrysler Six delivers, owners say, make this newer travel method the safe, sensible and comfortable way to get about.

DAN HARDT IS PRESIDENT OF NEENAH ALUMNI

Association Has Annual Dinner and Reception for 1925 Class

Neenah—Dan Hardt of the class of 1920, was elected president of Neenah Alumni association during the annual banquet Friday evening in Valley inn. The alumni committee elected to assist the president is Albert Dubels, Jr., Kathryn Kellett, Ruth Luchman, Edward Jandrey, Rignor Jersild, William Kellett and John Williamson.

The banquet, which was also a reception for the class of 1925, was one of the best in the history of the association. Covers were laid for 230. After a 4-course dinner was served, John Barnett, as toastmaster, introduced the speakers.

The difference between the English and American languages was discussed by Rev. Larson who has recently returned from Oxford college in England. The speaker held that there was a decided difference but both are called the English language. He illustrated his talk with stories he learned while abroad, much to the amusement of those present.

A plea for cooperation of the alumni association and school in bringing about a homecoming each year at the time when Neenah and Menasha meet on the football field, was made by George Christoph, coach. He also asked that those who had left school endeavor to support athletics in the local schools by attending games and contests.

William Draheim, retiring president of the association, welcomed the class of 1925. His greeting was responded to by Kenneth Amus, president of that class.

The presenting of medals by James P. Hawley post, American legion, to three of the 1925 class who had won highest points in athletics during the last four years, by William Draheim, vice-commander of the post, was a feature of the evening. Clarence Breidenick, with 688 points, was awarded the solid gold medal; Herman Koerwitz, with 648 points, received the silver medal and James Keating, with 444, was awarded the bronze medal.

The 6th dining room was cleared and dancing completed an evening of enjoyment.

SEEK TO BETTER CHEVROLET CAR ON "SPEED LOOP"

Driving Test on 4-mile Track
Continues Through Day and Night

In an unrelenting search for possibilities of further improvement, Chevrolet cars are being driven constantly around the four-mile "speed loop" of the General Motors Corporation proving ground near Milford, Mich.

The driving test, which is routine in the Chevrolet policy of continuous effort at refinements, is being made night and day, winter and summer, regardless of weather conditions.

At present seven Chevrolet cars are piling up a total of 75,000 miles monthly. The tireless whirl provides unusual driving strains in the quest of Chevrolet engineers for further opportunities to improve the sturdy chassis under conditions to which the cars ordinarily would not be subjected by the average owner. All models are included in the test group.

Two shifts of drivers maintain a pace of between 35 and 40 miles per hour, stopping only for gasoline, oil and inspection. The day shift drives from 7:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. with a half hour for lunch, while the night shift drives from 7 p. m. until 5:30 a. m. with midnight lunch period.

The "speed loop" includes three miles of gravel track, banked high at the turns and one mile of level concrete straightaway. There are no speed restrictions. One portion of the road leading from the "speed loop" to the inspection shop has a grade of 11.5 per cent.

Each noon and night the cars are inspected and filled with gasoline and oil. At every 1,000-mile mark the machines are washed, driven into the shop and given a thorough inspection, the results of which are listed in a report from. It is only during these inspections that the cars are under cover. At all other times they are out of doors.

Chevrolet trucks also under continuous test, being driven on "Bump Boulevard," an old farm road which crosses the 1,146-acre proving ground. The defects and irregularities of this road purposely have been left intact. The test cars and trucks use about 4,500 gallons of gasoline monthly.

After being driven 40,000 miles or more, each car is taken into the shop and torn down for precision inspection by the engineers. They may find nothing of interest. Usually the test may reveal an opportunity for some minor refinement. If it does, no detail is too small or insignificant for consideration in the general policy of continuous improvement.

SULPHATION IS DISEASE THAT KILLS BATTERY

Sulphuric Acid Changes Lead
Plates to Lead Sulphate in Cells

Without being technical in the least, it is possible to describe the condition known as SULPHATION in a storage battery and to outline some of the remedial measures the local battery doctor has at his command for an improvement of such a condition.

Upon discharging, the sulphuric acid in the solution acts upon the lead compounds of the battery plates and changes these compounds to lead sulphate. When a battery has been permitted to remain discharged for a long time, or has been over-discharged by short circuit in the wiring system, the lead sulphate hardens on the plates.

The longer the sulphate is permitted to remain as such, the more difficult it is to return the sulphuric acid that it contains to the battery solution by charging. In a healthy battery that is being actively charged and discharged while in use on the car, sulphate does not collect and harden to the point where it cannot be quickly and easily reduced.

The addition of more acid to the solution than that prescribed by the manufacturer also brings about the same result. The overstrong solution combines with the compounds of the plates, and remains there in the form of a sulphate.

Perhaps the most common cause of sulphation, over portions of the plates at least, is due to failure to keep the battery filled with distilled water. It is known that the solution decreases in volume because of the evaporation of water only and that takes place when the battery is being charged. The loss must be replaced regularly or the solution will drop below the level of the plates.

That portion of the plates above the solution becomes sulphated and extremely hard and the only hope that it may ever again be returned to its normal function is to permit a battery man to recharge the battery with extreme care.

NEW REO COUPE IS CRITERION OF MODISHNESS

Lines, Color, Appointment and Equipment Are Up to the Minute

No item of advanced 1925 motor car modishness is missing from the new series G Coupe being announced by the Reo Motor Car Company as an addition to its group of passenger cars. Lines, color, appointments and equipment are up-to-the-minute reflections of the newest ideas in automobile building, and the body is mounted on the standard Reo passenger car chassis with its six-cylinder, 50-horse power engine, inner-frame mounting of vital units and exclusive safety control.

The new Reo coupe owes no small share of the credit or its attractive appearance to the non-collapseable landau top and to the pleasing two-tone color arrangement.

Its seat is straight and the model is rated as a two passenger car, although it is capable of carrying three without crowding. Because of the simple arrangement effected with the steering control, the interior is extraordinarily roomy for a coupe of this type.

The frame is constructed of kiln-dried ash and maple with malleable iron and pressed steel reinforcements for all joints. Wherever possible the joints are both glued and screwed or bolted. Before being assembled, the parts of the frame are covered with oil paints to prevent deterioration.

Metal panels, made of heavy pressed steel, and held in place with screws, cover the frame. Pads placed between panels and frame at the bottom of the body prevent contact and eliminate disagreeable body squeaks. The top is covered with Chase double-texture leather cloth, which has been found both durable and attractive in appearance.

An American Walnut instrument board, attached to the cowl, carries the speedometer, ammeter, oil lighter and instrument light, grouped in a cluster on a satin silver finished panel. A new type of spark and gas controls and a large horn button mounted in the center of the steering wheel give an added touch of smartness to the interior.

The windshield is in one piece, easily adjusted to furnish practically any desired degree of ventilation. When closed, it is weatherproof, and it has the advantage of a means for conducting water due to condensation to the outside of the body. A manual windshield wiper is included in the coupe's standard equipment.

Upholstering on the door panels, top, and sides of the body is in a brown shade of worsted cloth, selected for its wearing qualities and its appearance. At the bottoms of the doors and under the cowl where upholstery is most exposed, a wear-resistant fabric, closely matching the cloth, is used.

Both the cushion and seat back are removable, and luggage that is too large to be stowed under the rear deck through the deck cover can be passed through the opening provided in this way.

Other convenient carrying places for large and small parcels are features of the Reo coupe. The model is designed to be convenient for business, shopping, sports and traveling, and to be in keeping in appearance and mechanical quality with the remainder of the Reo line. It is priced, at $1645, f. o. b. Lansing, tax extra.

DEALER SEEKS REMEDIES FOR PICNIC ABUSE

Now that the season is at hand when fine weather is the rule rather than the exception that national institution, the picnic, is again taking on its annual spring and summer popularity. But the picnic, as an institution, has had its abuses as well as its good features, and it is against these abuses that Mr. Schneider, of the Appleton Auto Co. Reo representative here, warns the motorist.

"One of the great things that the motor car has done for the people of this country," says Mr. Schneider, "is furnish them with the means of getting out of crowded communities periodically and enjoying outings and other wholesome forms of recreation. Personal transportation has popularized the picnic idea, and has added hundreds of thousands, if not millions, to the number of people who leave the dust and smoke of the cities for a few hours in the woods and fields on frequent occasions during the favorable months."

"But with the number of people engaging in this type of recreation, the abuses charged to picnic parties and similar groups have multiplied until the picnic itself threatens to become a nuisance, unless thoughtful people take steps to eliminate its faults."

"Misconduct of public and private property by motorists on picnics has become so common that it is annually the subject of cartoons, editorials and drastic regulations. Eventually, unless the motorists themselves furnish the remedy, 'No trespassing' and 'Picnics Forbidden' signs will become so common that outing parties will pass out of existence for sheer lack of sites."

"Any campaign for eliminating thoughtless habits or destructive tendencies should begin at home. The following code for self-regulation of picnic parties will, it is observed, do little or no good if it is not taken to heart by the motorists themselves. 'Never invade property which is posted or fenced in. 'Never cut or break trees. 'Never strip a site of flowers or foliage. 'Leave no rubbish of any kind."

BALLOON TIRE SEEN AS IDEAL

Statistics Show Rise from 41.5 to 53.7 Per Cent in
One Month

Balloon tires have in the past year been generally accepted by the motoring public as the ideal tire equipment. Statistics show that between January and February of this year balloons mounted from 41.5 percent of the standard tire equipment to 53.7 percent. A year ago they were only 18.8 percent of the whole.

Now comes the announcement of a new tire which is a marked improvement over the other balloon tires in that it incorporates a principal which has been proven by Miller engineers to be the nearest perfect. Assuming that the air in the tire is actually the element which carries the load these engineers have designed a balloon which has the same shape when inactive and not under load that it has when loaded and running. In other words, the tire is so shaped that if properly inflated, with proper ratio of air pressure to load carried, it will not squash out of shape when running. This eliminates many of the flexings that the ordinary tire, not so built, has to make in the course of its traveling. Internal friction is cut down and the length of the tire life extended.

With the new shaped balloon tire the engineers have computed the air pressures for the loads to be carried so that the tire will still retain its normal shape when running. Its tread and internal structure are so built that it conforms to the road and the whole automobile and the contents of the car are actually carried on the air. This makes a cushion of the air and the tire merely the structure to contain it. By eliminating a large share of the flexings the tire life is actually lengthened and the tire will wear evenly giving a much greater mileage than other tires.

Carry it to a proper place for disposal. "Don't be too proud to pick up some of the other fellow's refuse. His thoughtlessness may reflect on you. 'Don't leave the place as you found it. Leave it in better condition. 'Don't toss your rubbish out of the car on the way home."

CHRYSLER SIX WINS RENOWN IN SHORT TIME

Three Hundred Cars Ordered in France in Two Months
Despite Tax

Within the short space of a year the Chrysler Six has won not only an extraordinary reputation in the United States, but throughout the world as well. From Iceland in the North to British South Africa and Australia in the South demand for Chryslers has equaled the amazing demand in this country.

In France, for example, where American cars are compelled to face a 45 per cent duty and a 12 per cent luxury tax, 300 cars were ordered in two months.

Even in Italy where a prohibitive duty has made it impossible for most American companies to establish dealers, the Chrysler Motor Corporation has obtained representation and is selling cars.

Few companies have produced a car at the beginning of one year before the close of that year seen that car exhibited not only in all the larger cities of America but also at the show in Paris and in London. At the 13th Exposition Internationale de l'Automobile du Cycle et des Sports, held in October at the Grand Palais on the Champs-Elysees in Paris, the Chrysler display was easily the outstanding sensation of the hour. Forty cars of the car are actually carried on the air.

This makes a cushion of the air and the tire merely the structure to contain it. By eliminating a large share of the flexings the tire life is actually lengthened and the tire will wear evenly giving a much greater mileage than other tires.

At the 18th International Motor Exhibition organized by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, Ltd., in connection with the Royal Automobile Club, interest was centered on the Maxwell and Chrysler display. This interest proved real when the Maxwell-Chrysler Motors, Ltd., of England reported that it had sold its December quota of Chryslers at the show and had sold more than 100 Maxwell cars at retail.

CAR WITH VALVE IN HEAD MOTOR IS RACE WINNER

Buick Engineers Were First to Recognize Merits of New Type

For the 13th consecutive year a racing car powered by a Valve-in-Head motor has won the annual Memorial Day races at Indianapolis, the classic of the world.

Yesterday, as in past years, this type of motor has proved it possessed the greatest power and the greatest speed. Because of its unvarying success on the winning cars the valve-in-head racing engine has come to be universally accepted for all such speed classics.

"It is a matter of mere record that Buick engineers were the first to recognize the superiority of the valve-in-head engine," explains E. T. Strong, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Co., and Buick has concentrated on the valve-in-head since 1904. There are more than 4,000,000 Buick valve-in-head cars in use today.

That record was the type of engine Buick has made famous indicates their knowledge of its speed, power and stamina; the records of races won by this type of motor at Indianapolis and elsewhere simply justify their judgment.

"It is interesting to note that Buick, early in the industry, demonstrated the superior power and speed of the valve-in-head engine on the speedway. A Buick car won races at Indianapolis, at the time when the annual event covered 250 miles. In fact, until 14 years ago, when Buick withdrew from entering cars in racing events, Buick made unimpaired records on various tracks throughout the country."

Buick still holds two records in the Class "B" Speedway records (stock chassis division) for the Indianapolis race track. These two records were made July 2, 1910, by Louis Chevrolet, who went 5 miles on the track in 4 minutes, 35.47 seconds; and 10 miles in 8 minutes, 55.40 seconds.

FORD COMPANY SETS NEW MARK FOR PRODUCTION

Assembly Plants Turn Out
7,858 Cars in Eight-hour
Working Day

The Ford Motor Company set a new record for production Tuesday, May 19, when its assembly plants turned out 7,858 Ford cars and trucks in the eight-hour working day. This record if far the United States plants alone and does not include foreign plants and associated companies or the Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd.

An interesting thing in connection with this remarkable production is that the company is exceeding its most careful estimates for May. Current Ford billboards, which were prepared sixty days ago, carry the message "7,000 more since Yesterday". But in actual output the company exceeded this by 850.

Production of the company has been steadily increased during the last few weeks due to the growing spring business and new output records have been frequent, but none approaching within 100 of the remarkable figure of Tuesday.

On April 28 the domestic plants beat a record of 7,482 established a year ago by assembling 7,594 cars and trucks. This record stood until May 12 when production went to 7,732.

APRIL OLDSMOBILE SALES BREAK RECORD

Retail sales of Oldsmobiles during April this year were the largest in the long history of Olds Motor Works with the one exception of May 1924, which was recognized as the banner month for the entire automotive industry. This excellent showing by Oldsmobile during April was also reflected by all General Motors cars, total sales of which were 13,257 greater than during April 1924.

Domestic sales of Oldsmobiles by dealers in April of this year amounted to 36 per cent more than retail sales for April a year ago. In addition there were 69 Oldsmobiles exported abroad during the month just passed.

Indications are that May this year will at least equal, if not exceed, the

THOUSANDS CALL AT PIERCE PLANT

Travellers from Overseas,
Students and Officers
Among Guests

Over 16,000 visitors during the past year inscribed their names in the big visitor's register found in the reception hall of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company's offices at Buffalo. Many of these visitors, of course, were persons who had business with the various departments, but a large number were there for the sole purpose of going "sightseeing" through the great Pierce-Arrow chassis and body plants.

The register is interesting for it contains the names of many people from foreign lands. Many of them are owners, who have driven Pierce-Arrows along the dust-strewn roads of Australia, have wound through the slippery streets of Oriental cities or mounted the skyline trails that lead to the high Alps. Among the names found on the register are those of travelers from South America, China, Japan, England and its colonies, Belgium, Russia and other countries of the globe.

Many of the visitors at the Pierce-Arrow factory are engineering students who come to Pierce-Arrow to study the problems of manufacturing and plant management in the making of automobiles, such as Pierce-Arrow. One student recently came from as far west as Leland Stanford University, while the University of Kentucky sent a party of 40 a short time ago to study the plant.

Another interesting visitor was a native of India, with snowy turban who having gained a knowledge of Pierce-Arrow products during his residence in the United States desired to become a dealer upon his return home.

Army officers, especially those in the air service, find the factory a profitable place to visit, being especially interested in gasoline engine development.

GRAHAM LIGHT TRUCK OUTPUT LEADS WORLD

Dodge Dealer Cites Performance Record as Reason for Popularity

Official figures from Detroit for the first quarter of 1925 show that Graham Brothers rank first in the world in the production and sales of 1½ ton trucks.

In the 1-ton and 1½ ton truck fields combined they were surpassed in volume only by Ford. "The information may be surprising to the general public," said R. K. Wolter, local Dodge Brothers dealer, "but not to us, nor to those who are familiar with the performance of Graham Brothers Trucks and with their rapid ascendancy in the industry during the last three years."

"Their advance has been without ostentation. There has been no blare of trumpets, no exaggerated claims. It has been a steady, wholesome growth, based entirely upon the truck's performance."

Less than three years ago Graham Brothers were in twentieth position. Now they are manufacturing trucks at the rate of over 100 a day, marketing their entire output through Dodge Brothers Dealers. This sales and service advantage of a strong dealer organization, combined with the exceptional merit of the truck itself, is regarded as one of the chief reasons for the rapid advance to leadership. Dodge Brothers Dealers everywhere are highly regarded and their service facilities are uniformly above the average. Service is an exceedingly important factor in the operation of a truck and business men not slow to appreciate the advantage having genuine parts instantly available when needed. Graham Brothers attribute their rapid advance to the following four reasons:

1. Distinct price advantage.
2. Pronounced quality advantage.
3. Dodge Brothers engine.
4. Substantial character of Dodge Brothers dealer organization.

"Publication of this information regarding Graham Brothers first place in the industry," said Mr. Wolter, "is prompted wholly by the belief that truck buyers are entitled to know the trend of the times. With the facts before them, few would consider buying other equipment without first determining the reasons for Graham Brothers rapid advance."

WASHINGTON GAINS ON ATHLETICS IN A. L. RACE

White Sox Drive Crack Mack Hurlers From Hill By Heavy Bat Onslaughts

Giants and Brooklyn Also Taste Defeat in First-Division
Scrap in Old Loop

New York—Their lead cut to a game and a half, over Washington, and their regular pitchers driven from the mound on two successive days by fierce Chicago batting onslaughts, the Athletics Saturday rallied their routed diamond cohorts for a final stand against the White Sox in the hope of securing an even break for the series and for the ninth week of American League play.

Seventeen players were rushed to Philadelphia's defense as the Windy City players rained fifteen hits on the Quaker City park. Eddie Collins led the attack with four hits as the western team rolled up fifteen runs against a single tally for the junior league leaders—the worst defeat suffered this year by Mack's team.

Washington profited by the reverse of the leaders, defeating Detroit 7 to 2. Brilliant hurling decided two other American League contests. Elmer of the Red Sox scattering eight St. Louis hits for a clean cut Boston victory 5 to 2, and Joe Shantz limiting the New York Yankees, to three bingles as Cleveland again tripped Huggins' nine by a similar score. Babe Ruth passed another hitless day, while Tris Speaker collected his second homer in as many games.

National League leaders also fared badly, New York retiring under a 6 to 2 defeat before fifteen Pirate drives and Brooklyn failing to score off the tight pitching of Eppa Rixey, Cincinnati veteran.

The Giants choked off an early Private assault with a triple play, but Barnes and Bentley, Giant hurlers, were unable to check the terrific Pittsburgh fielding. Aldridge, on the other hand, permitted the champions to get runners all the way around only in the fourth inning.

The St. Louis Cards got back on the winning track as the result of another high class box performance by Sherdel, off whose curves the Phillies were able to gather but four hits and a single run. The Horshy piloted team came through easily, 4 to 1. Chicago's Cubs outslug the Boston Braves in a game featured by extra base hitting 9 to 7.

MUENCH PLAYS STAR GAME WITH LACROSSE

Joe Muench, erstwhile shortstop and captain of the Menasha-Neehan Pals and one of the classic infielders of the Old State League, is going great at shortstop for the La Crosse Boosters, according to reports from the border city. Joe bats second for the Boosters and gets two or three hits per game, the reports show. In his debut against Harry Ruesch's crack Kellogg's, he clouted a homer, double and single and scored three runs in four bats.

Two clippings from the La Crosse newspapers, show how the border city fans take to his style. The La Crosse scribes had this to say of his work:

"Muench, in his debut to the local fans, made a big hit. Although he made two errors, neither one was damaging, and his three classy hits eclipsed any remarks about the errors."

"The Booster infield is a much popular affair since Joe Muench traveled down from the northern wilds to join the team. The team has made a lot of double killing, and a double play is always popular with the fans. Joe's two errors in the first game with the Kellogg's should not be a block mark against him, as neither did any damage."

BEYER CREW MEETS LITTLE CHUTE HERE

A change in the schedule of the ball game between the Beyer Sentinels of Appleton and the Little Chute American Legion crew, headed by Marty Lamers, will bring the Lamers' crew to Appleton Sunday instead of the Beyer's going to Little Chute, according to an announcement of Al Beyer.

Both teams are in good shape for the battle and the game will be one of the best independent tilts of the year in Appleton. Killester of the Beyer crew probably will oppose Venderhevel, old Combined Locks twirler, on the mound.

COAST PRODUCT TAKES LAST BIG 3 CREW POST

By Associated Press
New York—The hand of the Pacific coast in shaping the destinies of eastern rowing has reached the last of the Big Three. With the selection yesterday of Charles Logg, former University of Washington, oarsman, to succeed Dr. Duncan Speech as coach of the Tiger crews, Yale, Harvard and Princeton Saturday looked to Pacific coast men to lead them to success on the water.

Logg, made director of rowing at Princeton after having acted as assistant to Dr. Speech, has resigned, follows the trail blazed by Ed Leader of Yale and Ed Stevens of Harvard. Princeton's rowing season is over, Yale and Harvard have their annual race next Friday, preceding another test of the western championship at Foughkeepsie by three days.

LUQUE AGAIN STACKS UP AS GREAT HURLER

Cincinnati — Adolfo Luque, Cincinnati's Cuban hurler, seems to have regained his 1923 form this season. To date he has pitched some splendid games. And has allowed but one run in his last 19 innings.

Luque, one of the National League's greatest pitchers two years ago, fell away badly last year, winning but 10 tilts and losing 15. His poor work possibly kept the Reds from being a real pennant contender.

This season, however, he looks like the Luque of old and should come through to a successful campaign. At least that's the dope, judging from his performances thus far.

OLD RIVALS MEET IN INDUSTRIAL BATTLE

The Kimberly-Clark baseball team of Kimberly, will play the Combined Locks team Saturday afternoon at the Kimberly ball park. Arnold Pican will pitch for the Kimberly crew with Joe Evers on the receiving end.

This will be the second attempt the two mills will have made toward playing a game this year. Three weeks ago they lined up against each other at the Combined Locks park, but after going along for five innings in sleet and rain with the thermometer near the freezing point it was decided to call off hostilities and forget about the encounter as far as calling it a game was concerned. The game ended in the fifth inning with the score standing 2 to 1 in favor of the Locks. If weather conditions are good a real game will be played Saturday.

CHIEF BENDER TO AID COLLINS WITH SOX

Chicago — Charles A. (Chief) Bender, former star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics when that club was winning pennants, has been named by the Chicago White Sox, headed by Eddie Collins in 1910, when the Athletics won the world's championship, to join the club in Philadelphia Saturday.

He will be employed as instructor of the pitching staff and his work on the coaching lines is expected to be a big help to the club. Bender, a member of the Chipmunk tribe, has been head coach of the United States Naval Academy nine at Annapolis for the last two seasons.

MANY ATHLETES LOST TO BLUES BY GRADUATION

Football Hit Hardest With Six
Star Linemen Lost to Catlin in 1925 Season

Lawrence college athletic teams will lose less men through graduation in 1925-26 than in several years past, statistics show. The 1924 state title football team is hit the hardest with six veteran linemen, having played their last game for the Blue. Coach Mark Catlin still has his veteran backfield and the line material is fair, but with Dunham, a seventh waterman of the line out of school he will have to build practically a new line to meet the strong competition. The basketball team is untouched, with every member of the all-star Midwest, Little Five and State champs ready for the cage season. In track two vets are lost to the Blue but a wealth of promising material will help Denny a lot. Two good which went good its first year of competition, beating Ripon in the only dual meet. The tennis crew is hard hit with four men among the grads, but with men like Heidemann, LaBorda and Nesbit still in school, should be strong in 1926.

"L" men lost by graduation are, football—Ray Flend, Jefferson, half-back; William "Bill" Klesing, Jeff. tackle; Alton "Goose" Gander, Duluth, Minn., guard; Gerald Holdridge, Virginia, Minn., end; Eddie Packard, Antigo, tackle; Captain Leonard "Jake" Stoll, Sharon, end; James "Swede" Olson, Waupaca, center. Track—Captain Wilmer "Wimmy" Rehbein, Appleton, 440-yard dash and half mile run; Leonard Stoll, Sharon, weights. Wrestling—Eddie Packard, Antigo, navyweight. Football—Don Lee, Antigo, light weight. Tennis—Don Lee, Antigo, Antigo, Gerald Beggs, Rice Lake; Lester Anderson and C. Russell Huntington, Racine. Lisle "Lis" Blackburn, Appleton, four-year Lawrence football star and coach this year, also received a sheepskin. Blackburn also coaches the Blue wrestling squad. Another man to receive his diploma is Roger "Rog" Collings of Hartford, star of the 1923 Blue basketball team. Osmun "Osy" Cook, "L" man in football, basketball and track for two years, who was out of school part of this year, also was listed with the grads.

NO APPLETON BANKERS IN STATE GOLF TOURNEY

No local bankers will participate in the 1925 annual golf tournament which will be staged for the entertainment of members of the Wisconsin Bankers association Monday at the Tripoli Country club, Milwaukee, according to reports here. The meet is held under the auspices of the Milwaukee Golf club.

A silver cup, given by the club, will be presented to the player having the low gross score, and three merchandise prizes will be given for blind bogey contest. After the cup has been won three times by any member, it will then become the permanent possession of the member.

The general rules of the United States Golf association will govern the play in so far as it is possible, and then they will be modified only by local ground rules. All tournaments will be at medal play, 18 holes being necessary to qualify for consideration in his distribution of prizes. Entrants in the tournament must file their names with the committee. Members of the bank may make up their own foursomes, providing that they make their arrangements with the association before the day of the play. Unless a particular request is filed, all entrants will be placed in foursomes by the committee.

BURNS BEATS HOFF TO KEEP CANADIAN TITLE

Chippewa Falls—Winning every round K. O. Burns of Duluth, defeated Chris Hoff of Eau Claire in a ten round boxing match here Friday night and retained his Canadian welterweight championship. Tony Wenzel knocked out Leo Krog of Marsfield, in the fourth round of the semi-finals.

Tony Lickas of Ely, Minn., won a technical knockout over Jack Allen, Chippewa Falls, and Bob Gregor of Augusta, knock out Len Boudreau of Chippewa Falls, in the first bout.

DEPAULO GOES 123 AN HOUR IN AUTO TRIALS

Altoona, Pa. — If performance in the qualifying trials is taken as an indication, new record for the Altoona speedway is likely to be set in the 250 mile automobile race Saturday afternoon. Eighteen drivers, among them the most prominent pilots in the country, are entered. Those who have been watching the qualifying tests say that Peter DePaulo, winner of the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis on Memorial day, stands an excellent chance to win here. The vet Tommy Milton also is looked upon by some as a potential victor.

DePaulo has shattered all records for the Altoona track in the trials, turning the mile and a quarter saucer Friday in 31 seconds flat or at the rate of 122.32 miles an hour.

The race is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, eastern standard time.

GILL IS WONDER TRACK COACH

BY ART CARLSON
Chicago — Harry Gill of Illinois.

Indeed, a name to conjure with on track and field.

He's known to every else follower of collegiate athletics. He's been track coach at Urbana since 1904. His teams have long been famous for their achievements on cinder and turf.

Whenever the name of Gill is mentioned you think of Illinois and its famous track teams. And whenever one talks "track" you think of Gill. Mention of one brings out the other. And vice versa. Gill and track athletics are synonymous.

For Harry Gill has molded champions out of timber that appeared ready for the brush heap. He's made stars out of the poorest prospects imaginable. He's carried his fighting Illinois into one championship after another, until victories have become fairly monotonous.

In the 1925 affair, held at Columbus tonight, Illinois came in fifth. It had been figured to place third at least. It was the worst showing a Gill-coached team made in seasons. Indoors, Gill has copied the Big Ten laurels seven times. And has finished second on five occasions in a total of 14 starts. Beat that record if you can, remembering the while that there is no faster competition in the country than that found in the annual Western Conference games.

In 1924 Gill produced one of the greatest college teams in track and field annals. It romped off with the Big Ten outdoor fiesta, scoring 74 points, almost twice as many as its closest rival, and won the indoor title as well.

In the Olympic games last summer, Illinois athletes counted 35 tallies, more than any other single university could show.

As a developer of relay teams, Gill has no equal. Almost year after year his four-men aggregations have carried off the honors in the quarter, half, mile and two-mile records. Some of them have set world records, too.

You'll perhaps recall that it was Harry Gill who coached Harold Osborne along and made him the sensational high jumper he now is—the best in history.

It was Harry Gill who brought out Milton Angier, Dean Brownell, Dan Kinsey, Bob Tmery, Bud Evans, Avery Brundage and a most of others whose names have been and still are by-words in track and field competition.

And it is Harry Gill who has made Illinois teams feared by opponents year after year. For a Gill-tutored aggregation can usually be figured as a tough one to beat, an outfit to make them all hustle.

Harry Gill of Illinois.

RAIN SPOILS BIG TWILIGHT BATTLE

Meyer Press and "Y" Forced to Cancel First Tilt of Season on Friday

STANDINGS	W	L	Pct.
Post-Crescent	5	0	1.000
Meyer Press	1	1	.500
Footfitter	3	2	.333
Y. M. C. A.	1	2	.333
Chair Co.	1	4	.200

With two of the newest teams in the Twilight League scheduled to play their first game of the year, rain spoiled another good battle Friday afternoon and members of the other crews who were anxious to determine their ratings by the result of the game were doomed to disappointment. The Meyer Press crew was carded against the Y. M. C. A. team. The Pressmen had pulled the surprise of the loop last week by beating the Bankers, considered by many the class of the loop, and knocking this crew from a clear second place in the standings to a tie. By splitting even in two games they went into second themselves. The "Y" crew, with Gebhardt on the mound, is showing plenty of stuff and gave the loop-leading P-C crew a real rub only to lose in the final frames last week. As the Meyer Press had dropped their only game to the Chair Co., that crews only win, and the "Y" had beaten the Chair in their first game, a hot battle was on deck.

In next week's battle, real games are on deck. On Monday the fighting, rejuvenated Chairmen meet the second place Bankers. On Wednesday, Footfitter hurler, engages in pitching duel with his old rival Gebhardt of the "Y" in what should be the classic game of the week. The teams are very evenly matched and also are tied for fourth in the standings close behind second.

On Friday the leaders the P-C crew mixes with the strong Meyer Press crew, conquerors of the Bankers, with Colvin on the mound for the Pressman. With batters such as Bayer and Timmers in the lineup, the Press crew will make the P-C team step lively to keep it's slate clean.

As things look in the league at present the Post-Crescent and Bankers have the best balanced teams. The Bankers play a good game in the field, slug hard and use their heads on the paths. The "Y" has a strong slugging crew. Most of the teams lack one of the essentials, but with a little practice on the weak spot should be ready to go. Two of the crews are all there in the field and at bat, but the others are on bases, while others hit well and field poorly or vice versa.

PICK ATHLETES OF 50 SCHOOLS IN TRACK MEET

Chicago — Picked athletes from more than 50 universities and colleges of the country Saturday were out to do their best in the annual track and field championships of the National Collegiate A. A. at Stagg field, University of Chicago.

In the trials Friday afternoon 25 track men qualified for Saturday's finals.

A strong field was to run in the distance events, and able men also were scheduled to do the 120-yard high hurdles. In the 100-yard dash, Hubbard of Michigan was expected to lead the sprinters without great danger, although Wittman of Michigan, who made the best time in qualifying—10.3-5—was seen as a strong contender.

INDIANA WINS TITLE AS OHIO STATE LOSES GAME

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Michigan defeated Ohio State here Friday 4 to 2. Jablonowski allowed only three hits. The loss of the game meant the loss to Ohio of the Western conference baseball championship, as it was necessary for them to win to keep Indiana away from the title.

VET DUNDEE ABOUT DONE
LOSES BOUT TO TERRIS

By Associated Press
New York—Johnny Dundee Saturday stood near the end of his 15-year career beaten by a youthful New York foe yet unconquered by a knockout punch in what was expected by many to be his last fight.

For fifteen rounds at the Coney Island stadium, Sid Terris landed on the grim vet of 300 battles every punch known to boxing. Three times in the ninth round the former featherweight champion was staggered and seemed on the verge of a knockout, yet doggedly he hung on and fought back with a gameness that carried him through six more punishing rounds.

Dundee, once one of the fastest and quickest hitting fighters of two divisions, was outspaced and outfought in every round.

Aurora, Ill.—Tal Moore of Memphis, won a ten round bout from Pete Sarmiento. Filipino by newspaper decision and Mike Ballerino junior light-weight title holder, and Frankie Schaeffer, of Chicago, fought ten rounds to a draw.

PACKERS TO PLAY IN EAST IN 1925

Philadelphia, Pottsville, New York on Proposed Eastern
Trip for Green Bay

Green Bay—There is a possibility that the Green Bay Packers may take a three game trip east in the fall, playing the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets, Pottsville Pa. Miners and New York Giants.

President A. B. Turnbull of the Green Bay Football corporation has received a letter from M. W. Ballentine, secretary of the Philadelphia Jackets, opening negotiations for the proposed trip.

The Philadelphia football official suggests that the Packers play in Pottsville, Pa. on Thanksgiving Day; then jump to Philadelphia for a game on Saturday, Nov. 28 and hop off to New York for a Sunday game with the Giants at the Polo Grounds.

At the present time, Pottsville and New York are not members of the National Football league but it is expected that favorable action will be taken on their application for franchises at the league meeting in Chicago, July 25 and 26.

The Packers' management is attempting to get Philadelphia to play here early in the season and, if the trip east is arranged, it will probably be with the understanding that Philadelphia is to play here on one of the September dates.

The National Football league season opens on Sept. 20 and the final date is Dec. 20. This new arrangement, which was decided on at the January meeting in Cleveland, allows three solid months for professional piskin chasing.

Chicago, Ill. — Indiana university won the baseball championship of the Big Ten conference for 1925.

Aberdeen, Wash.—Stanislaus Zbrsko, wrestler, defeated Bob Krus of Portland, in two straight falls.

REPORT LAFOLLETTE IS SLIGHTLY BETTER

By Associated Press
Washington—Improvement in the condition of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin who is confined to his bed with bronchial asthma was reported Saturday by his son, Robert M. LaFollette, Jr. The asthmatic attack is an aftermath of a cold from which the senator had been suffering for two weeks.

Senator LaFollette took to his bed on the advice of his physician who held he should have a complete rest. It is not expected that he will be able to return to Wisconsin within two weeks under the most favorable circumstances.

The senator issued a statement paying tribute to Warren S. Stone, chief of the Engineers' Brotherhood, who died Friday and who he declared had been a "tower of strength in the struggles of labor."

BRITAIN RAISES BARS AGAINST UNFIT ROOKIES

By Associated Press
London—Of every 100 young men who applied to join the British army during 1924, about 82 were rejected as physically unfit. It was announced recently by recruiting officers. This compares with 35 percent in 1912 and 58 percent in 1923.

Authorities disagree as to the cause, some contending the increase in the proportion of rejection was due to a raising of the standard when men came up for examination.

PICK SIX BEST ESSAY WRITERS FOR STATE ENTRY

Six Whose Articles Compete in Exposition Kept Secret for Time Being

The six best essays from among the hundreds submitted by rural school children of Outagamie-co in the second annual contest in connection with the Wisconsin industrial products exposition, have been selected and were sent to the state judges, according to announcement from the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Three of the writers were boys and three were girls, but their identities are private as the names are kept in sealed envelopes until the final choice has been made. One girl and one boy essayist will be chosen from the six to attend the exposition in Milwaukee, Sept. 2 and 3 with all expenses paid.

The selections were made by a committee composed of R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent, A. L. Collier, Miss Nellie McDermott, county supervisors of teachers. Each essay was written on the subject, Farmland Factory, Dependent Upon Each Other. Measure the Prosperity of Our Men and Women and Create Opportunities For Future Generations.

The two Outagamie-co winners, in addition to their trip to Milwaukee, will be eligible to compete for a further prize of one hundred dollars, which will be offered the boy or girl whose essay entitles him or her to a trip to the exposition, and who later writes the best essay on the subject. My Impressions of Wisconsin After Having Visited the 1925 Wisconsin Industrial Products exposition.

The last contest was held in 1923, when 64 of the 71 counties in the state were represented among the prizewinners. The expenses for the 125 prizewinners and for the 64 county superintendents who accompanied them, were paid out of a fund made up jointly by the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association and some Wisconsin bankers. The contest was held in 1924, because the Wisconsin products exposition stepped aside for the National dairy show, held in Milwaukee during September. The 1925 Exposition will be held at the state fair grounds during state fair week, Aug. 31 to Sept. 5.

STAGE AND SCREEN

AN OLD RELIC

A genuine old relic of the sailing days of 1827 is used as a chart in the sequences of the picturization of Rafael Sabatini's famous novel, "Captain Blood," which will be shown at the Elite theater today and Sunday. It is a globe which I. Warren Kerrigan as Captain Blood uses to chart the courses of his pirate ship, "Arabella."

Aside from being authentic as the instrument used by the ancient navigators it holds interest in that the last corrections as to explorations and territorial lines were made in the year 1827. Alaska appears under the name of Russian America, Hawaiian Islands are called by their original name, the Sandwich Group. Western United States as far north as the present Oregon line and east to the Mississippi river is given as the property of Mexico. Only a few of the great cities of the world today are given on the globe, while many of our chief centers of today are not shown.

"Captain Blood" is a spectacular production of the days of 1825, with scenes in England and along the coast of the British West Indies. There are scenes of revolt, attack on Bridgetown, a sea encounter between the French fleet and Captain Blood's boat, Arabella, with an explosion and the sinking of the Arabella. Into this atmosphere is woven the greatest love story ever told.

FAMOUS PLAY MAKES SPECTACULAR FILM

"The Heart of Maryland," an elaborate film version of the famous stage play of the same name by David Belasco, will be shown at the New Bijou theater Monday and Tuesday. The screen version, on account of the greater scope of the film field, will surpass the stage version in many respects and equal it in all others. Catherine Calvert, the Vitagraph star, heads an all-star cast in the role of Maryland Calvert. In her notable company are Crane Wilbur as leading man, Felix Krembs, William Collier, Jr., Ben Lyon, Bernard Siegel, Henry Hallam, Warner Richmond, Marguerite Sanchez and hundreds of minor characters.

The picture has been nearly six months in the making. It has the advantage over the stage production of showing thrilling scenes in the great struggle between the North and the South that only could be reproduced on the screen. The entire company went south in order to get the proper scenery and "atmosphere" for backgrounds and was fortunate enough to enlist the sympathy and therefore the help of real southerners.

The picture has been made on a tremendous scale, and no expense or time was spared to make the locale and costumes exactly as they were during the Civil war, even to the extent of restoring dilapidated buildings and getting old Confederate uniforms and costumes out of cedar chests.

SAILSTAD AND BRIDE SEEKING LOVE NEST

Edward J. Sailstad and Dorothy Anderson Sailstad, his "Sunshine Girl," have completed the wedding trip in which their romance culminated a week ago, and now are looking for "two rooms, a kitchenette and a bath, furnished," in Oshkosh. Sailstad will continue to work in the typewriter repair business at which he was employed before he was imprisoned for an alleged insurance plot in which he was said to have dug up a body, placed it in a northern summer cottage and then set fire to the building before he disappeared with his present wife.

FRENCH PREMIER LEAVES FOR RIFF BATTLE FRONT

French Morocco.—Paul Painleve, and war minister premier French started for the French-Riffian front at 6:30 Friday morning after having discussed Military campaign plans most of the night with Marshal Lyautey, governor general of French Morocco.

His party stopped on the journey from Rabat to visit a hospital where the French wounded are being cared for.

The premier recounted his reception Friday by Sultan Mulai Yusef, saying the Moorish ruler was evidently highly satisfied with his assurance that maintenance of the sultan's sovereignty was the basis on which France was acting.

AMATEUR VAUDEVILLE POPULAR WITH YOUNG

Amateur vaudeville is finding great favor among juvenile thespians at Fischer Appleton theatre, where it has become the practice to award prizes for amateur numbers every Saturday afternoon. Last week the first prize of $3 was awarded to Cleo Dloune by acclamation of the audience. Juanita Williams drew second prize of $2, while Verna LaPlante who was tied with Ruth Riesenweber and Rosiland Wingrove, received $1, as did the other two also.

Singing and dancing made up all four of the numbers. The contestants ranged from 6 to 10 years of age.

BAND CONCERT WILL BE HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Rain Friday afternoon and evening caused the postponement of the 120th Field Artillery band concert at 8 o'clock Monday evening. At that time the same program as planned for Friday night will be presented, also at Pierce park where the original concert was to be held.

The HOOVER

It BEATS... as it Sweeps as it Cleans

Rugs Are Beaten Weekly in The Hoover-Cleaner Home

No one but a Hoover owner knows how much dirt broom-sweeping fails to get.

For the dirt the broom misses is the kind of dirt you want most to be rid of, the dirt that lodges at the base of the nap.

And until you use a Hoover you don't know it's there.

It's unhealthy dirt! It's destructive dirt! It's gritty, knife-edged, sharp, and cuts soft nap under constant tread of feet

It makes your rugs wear out years too soon!

And it stays there month after month, germ-laden, insanitary — unless you own a Hoover!

For this kind of dirt must be beaten out. A broom won't reach it.

But every time you use a Hoover your rugs get the three kinds of cleaning they need—beating, sweeping and air-suction.

For The Hoover BEATS—as it Sweeps, as it Cleans—quickly, with no effort on your part.

Wouldn't you like to be sure that your rugs are clean beneath the surface as well as on top? Wouldn't you like to save labor—and time?

Then get a Hoover! In no other way can you be sure. Only $6.25 will bring you a Hoover. The balance is easy, in monthly payments even smaller.
